Late entrant to School Committee Race

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - a slew of candidates returned nomination papers last Friday, keeping the Town Clerk's office busy certifying signatures. Another newcomer, Manuel Mulas, joins the fray for School Committee, promising a vigorous campaign season as the School Department delves deeper into the feasibility study for a new high school, an issue certain to be central in the race.

While John Goggin pulled nomination papers for Housing Authority, he did not return them, rendering the seat open. A write-in candidate with just five votes could win the seat.

Fatal crash on I-93 in Wilmington

WILMINGTON - At 11:26 a.m. on Thursday, March 3, Massachusetts State Troopers assigned to the Massachusetts State Police Barracks in Andover responded to calls reporting a pedestrian struck by an oil tanker on Route 93 northbound in Wilmington, between Exits 39 and 40. Evidence indicates that the victim was struck and killed in the rightmost travel lane while returning to his car after picking up a hubcap in the median strip.

Preliminary investigation by Trooper James M. McTeague indicates that Edward S. Ruff, 83, of Tewksbury, parked his 1999 Nissan Altima in the break-

Ethics Compliance

Selectman incumbent delinquent on ethics paperwork

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Selectman Ray Lepore, candidate for reelection, has not filed any ethics compliance paperwork with the Town Clerk's office. Citing computer illiteracy, Lepore contends he was unaware that he needed to complete state mandated training, available only online. He also does not have a signature on file signifying that he received the summary of the Conflict of Interest Law.

Lepore, as of Tuesday, was the only Selectman, indeed public official, in Wilmington that did not have the Conflict of Interest statement signed and the online training complete, accord to Town Clerk

Massachusetts - Dick Hoyt.

Rick was born in 1962 and, due to oxygen deprivation to his brain during his birth, was

Olympic Medal winner shares his passion for the art of fencing

WILMINGTON - "En garde!" It is not wrong to automatically think those words and to visualize a sword wielding movie hero when you hear the word fencing. But the sport of modern fencing involves so much more than that fast paced scene from fiction reveals to us. Yes, it is exciting and yes, it can have frantic moments, but the mental aspects often dominate over the action. "Speed means nothing," three-time Olympian Vaho Iagorashvili explains. "Pure speed is predictable. You must be smart and trick your opponent."

Iagorashvili, who has won 12 world-class medals including an Olympic Bronze, owns and operates Penta Fencing Club in Wilmington. Here he works with members ranging in age from 7 to almost 60 who are learning or practicing the art of fencing.

Originally from the former Soviet Union, now the Republic of Georgia, Iagorashvili has lived in the United States since 1991. He began his athletic career as a competitive swimmer when he was only eight years old. He began his fencing career at age 15 when he started competing in Pentathlons. The Pentathlon event includes pistol shooting, fencing, swimming, equestrian riding, and cross-country running.

At the Penta Club, Iagorashvili teaches that knowing your opponent's strengths and weaknesses is a

Celli wins TOPS Buddy of the Year

National award bestowed upon Wilmington's favorite TOPS coach

By DANA BURNHAM

WILMINGTON - Ed Celli says he is, "thrilled beyond what I could fathom" at winning the US Youth Soccer TOPS Buddy of the Year 2010 award. Ed was one of four finalists for the award, which was presented during the US

Youth Soccer National Workshop and Awards Gala last month. In Ed's words, "We put Wilmington on the map for TOPS."

The Buddy of the Year award honors a role model who creates a fun learning experience as a mentor, advocate, coach or administrator. Ed got involved fifteen years ago, when his children exited the youth soccer scene, but he still had the desire to coach. Celli found his outlet when he came across US Youth Soccer TOPSoccer (The Outreach Program for Soccer), a community-based training and team placement program for young athletes with disabilities. He pitched the idea to the Wilmington Youth Soccer board of directors, and since the approval, Celli has been the ultimate Buddy forming a program that has flourished to include more than 93 players and 100 volunteer coaches. He has a special gift of understanding and communicating that adds value for his players." Simply stated, Ed says, "This is what I wanted in my life."

At the banquet, the group from Wilmington was seated at Table #1. Ed had a chance to talk to peers across the country, from New England to Michigan and as far away as Oregon. Some of them have TOPS programs in their infancy, but Ed was able to advise them, saying, "Don't get overwhelmed; everything falls into place," as it has for the program here in Wilmington. He also had a chance to talk to the three other finalists (one from each of the four regions in US Soccer), and also the Vice President of US Soccer, Evelyn Gill.

It was Gill who called the four nominees to the stage during the awards portion of the evening, and when Ed won for TOPS Buddy of the Year, the place erupted. Stepping to the microphone, Ed - known for his enthusiastic evangelism of TOPS Soccer - teased the crowd by starting his acceptance speech with the words, "I hope you all have a couple of hours."

Here in Massachusetts, Ed's family and friends were able to watch the event streamed live over the Internet, including a group gathered at his son's house. The group included many Assumption College graduates who are tied to the TOPS program because Ed's son started one at the school; a program that this daughter continues to oversee.

When Ed concluded his speech, which included multiple thank-yous to those who help him run the program, and to the families whose children are in the program, he reclaimed his seat at Table #1 - and that is when the text messages and cell phone calls began. Included in those calls was one from Ed's daughter, affirming that he is, "the most amazing dad."

"As wonderful as that all was," Ed says, it was landing at the airport in Manchester, NH that was the true highlight for him. As Ed walked through to his gate, he was surprised to notice cameras flashing, and then he saw it: gathered there - at 9:45 p.m. - were the families and kids in the Wilmington TOPS Soccer program, with flowers, and balloons, and heartfelt thanks. "You know, you changed the world," were the words of one parent.

The Wilmington TOPSoccer program will begin in April (check the website at www.wilmingtonyouthsoccer.org for specific dates), but in the meantime, two parents from the TOPSoccer program - inspired by Ed's efforts - have begun a TOPS Bowling program at the lanes in North Reading. Anyone interested in participating in this or the soccer program should email tops@wilmingtonyouthsoccer.org for more information.

This shot of Ed Celli, along with just a few of the many kids who love him, was taken in 2008 on the night he was named as Wilmington's Good Guy. The residents of Wilmington may have been the first to acknowledge his efforts, but the nation has taken notice. Last week, Celli was named the US Youth Soccer TOPS Buddy of the Year.

Free program: women's sleep disorders

Offered by Winchester Hospital Sleep Disorders Center

WINCHESTER - According to the National Sleep Foundation, up to 70 million Americans aren't getting a good night's sleep due to sleep disorders. While sleep disorders affect both genders, however, women in particular face multiple issues affecting their quality of sleep - and general health and well-being - from the onset of menses through pregnancy and menopause.

According to Dr. Najmuddin Patwa, medical director of the Winchester Hospital Sleep Disorders Center in Woburn, gauging the severity of a sleep disorder is difficult until it is appropriately evaluated. It has been estimated, however, that fewer than 20 percent of those with sleep disorders have ever initiated a discussion about the problem with a physician.

On Wednesday, April 6, Dr. Patwa will be joined by Winchester Hospital acupuncturist Michael Arsenault in discussing sleep disorders facing women from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at the Holiday Inn Select, 15 Middlesex Canal Park Road in Woburn. The workshop will discuss why women have more difficulty falling and staying asleep, how to get the sleep you deserve, advances in treatment options, and how integrative therapies can help. Refreshments will be served.

"It's important for women with sleep apnea and all other sleep disorders to discuss these problems with their health care providers," said Dr. Patwa, a diplomate of the American Board of Sleep Medicine. "Because our sleep time occupies one-third of our lives, its impact is significant."

While the sleep disorders presentation is free, registration is required by April 1 by calling 866-WIN-HOSP (866-946-4677).

Accredited by the American Academy of Sleep Medicine, the Winchester Hospital Sleep Disorders Center diagnoses and treats all sleep disorders, including sleep apnea, narcolepsy, parasomnia, chronic insomnia, circadian rhythm abnormalities, Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD), Periodic Limb Movement Disorder and Restless Legs Syndrome (RLS). All insurance plans are accepted. To learn more about the Winchester Hospital Sleep Disorders Center, call (781) 756-2325.

It's Your Money

TAX PLANNING IN RETIREMENT

A comfortable retirement often depends on how much money you can withdraw each year-and from which nest eggs.

Over 70 1/2 years old, the first chunk is the minimum required distributions from your retirement accounts; the penalties are huge if you miss. Then take money from your taxable accounts. Any gains in investments held over a year are taxed at low, long-term-gain rates. Meanwhile, your tax-deferred accounts can keep growing. These are next to tap, leaving tax-exempt Roth accounts for last. Roth money can stay in place for the rest of your life.

You may want to switch the growth investments in your retirement accounts to CDs or money-market funds, and the CDs and such in taxable accounts to lower-taxed growth securities. Ideally, you should withdraw only 4 percent of funds in the first year of retirement, increasing the amount by 3 percent or less for inflation. Don't include your home equity in the fund total. Tax planning is vital to a comfortable retirement. Let us help you at

Farmers Market thankful

To the Editor:

The Wilmington Farmers Market Association is a volunteer run non-profit organization. As such we depend on donations from generous members of our community.

As we prepare for the July 10 opening of the market, we would like to take a moment to acknowledge Laura Osgood's Wilmington Dance Academy as our very first corporate sponsor. Laura demonstrated her confidence in our mission, and her faith in us as an organization, by making her donation in the Fall of 2010, before the Board of Selectmen granted us a license to operate a farmers market on town land.

The Wilmington Farmers Market would not be possible without the support of donors like the Wilmington Dance Academy. We sincerely appreciate their early and enthusiastic support.

Wilmington

McNeil portrayed unfairly

Dear Editor,

I'm disturbed by your article on the front page (February 23) showing a very heart breaking tragedy of two families. I'm referring to Wilmington resident Charles McNeil and Wilmington resident Mrs. Forte. I know Chuck and he is also a very kind loving person that would not ever harm anyone. This is an accident and a tragedy for both families involved. You paint Chuck, a resident of our own town, as a drugged out monster who was reckless. He was not. Chuck lost his son in 2008 and tried to hold it together and fell through the cracks. He then understood he needed help and he was admitted to a well known hospital for treatment. He was not on drugs, but prescribed medication by doctors for depression who felt that he was well enough to be released and continue on an outpatient basis for the depression for the loss of his son. He was prescribed antidepressants, not street drugs as the paper and news seems to allude to. How many of our residents could this have happened to? How many of our own residents are right at this moment driving on antidepressants, anti-inflammatory's, pain medications, or over-the-counter sleep aides?

These people are part of our community with extended families that reside here. I would urge this community to wait to judge, because the facts will come out and it is tragic and my heart goes out to both families. Don't be so quick to sell a frontpage story or get the first picture. This may have been our family or it has affected our family. I pride myself on saying I live in Wilmington and I hope when tragedy strikes in this town we stand as one and reserve judgment even though its human nature to want to blame someone when a precious life is lost.

Sincerely,
Gayle Padden
Wilmington

(editor's note: The hearts of everyone here at the Town Crier go out to both families involved in the above mentioned tragedy. However, we stand by the story that appeared as being 100% factual and non-biased. The Town Crier does take particular exception to the charge that Mr. McNeil was portrayed in this newspaper as 'a drugged out monster.' Nothing could be further from the truth. Neither did the Crier make any allusions to 'street drugs.' Mr. McNeil was charged by the police with OUI Drugs - prescribed medications are drugs. The facts of the incident were reported accurately, and nothing more.)

A vote for Bernier

Dear Editor,

To most people following the Tewksbury Town Clerk's race, Han Bernier is known as "the other one." I know Han as, with a nod to George Lucas, "Han Solo." Although a resident and taxpayer of Tewksbury for almost five years, Han is virtually unknown in town. She is a stranger to Town politics. Han is flying solo. This is both a blessing and a curse for her; a blessing because she is not connected with "good ol' boy" political machine in Tewksbury, and a curse because nobody knows who she is.

Han Bernier brings a fresh perspective to the Town Clerk's race. She is the only candidate with a degree in Business coupled with over 15 years of executive business experience. From what I understand, the only business experience the other candidates have is that within the Town Clerk's office. Over the last six years that the other candidates have been in the Town Clerk's office (six years for Mrs. Graffeo, and five years for Ms. O'Brien-Nichols), I have not seen much innovation or efficiency brought to the office.

There is much controversy surrounding the other candidates, ranging from violation of state open meeting laws, to allegations of nepotism, to concerns regarding the integrity of the upcoming election. It's this type of controversy in government that drove Han to work on a few conservative campaigns during the November elections and, after much thought, helped her decide to run for Town Clerk.

Han believes accessibility, accountability, and transparency are the keys to making the Town Clerk's office more efficient and financially sustainable. She will work to investigate and implement ways to make the office more accessible to working families such as permanently modifying office hours, making forms and instructions available online, and making submission of forms and online payment a priority. Han's experience as an accountant poises her as an ideal candidate, as she is required to follow certain procedures and produce results with 100% accuracy. She is also strongly interested in reducing and eliminating voter fraud and she is a supporter of voter identification initiatives.

Han Bernier, as a newcomer, has no conflict of interest and owes no favors. She is running on her own merit. She hasn't sought, nor does she plan to seek contributions for her campaign. The only thing she asks of you is to research your options and, if you believe Tewksbury deserves better than the status quo, consider voting for her on April 2nd. I encourage you to attend Han's Meet & Greet event on Saturday, March 19 at Maverick's on Main St. from 1:00-4:00 and see for yourself what positive changes Han Bernier can bring to the Town Clerk's Office.

Sincerely,
Melissa Gleaton

Betsy's Best Bets

What, Me Worry?

You know, the world is in an uproar, the danger zone is everywhere. (Ray Charles)

are worshiped

- Brainwashing society with unwholesome, violent, s e x i s t movies/videos/music/TV shows/ads

- The dumbing down of America - loss of reading literature and cultural appreciation, ability to write coherently

- Increase in disease like cancer, diabetes, etc.

- Fear mongering - bird flu, H1N1, sensationalizing weather events, crime, terrorism

Have you had enough? Feel free to add to the list, it's ongoing.

Over the years I have given continuously to the causes that I believed in, thinking they could fight these battles better than I could on my own. Now I'm wondering, "for what?" After watching Al Gore's documentary "An Inconvenient Truth," I really felt "the end is near" - but in spite of that, I went home and looked at his website to read the list of things that each of us can do, personally, to help save the planet. To my dismay, I had already been doing just about everything listed - always did - in vain, it would seem (sigh).

The worry about one's own responsibilities and problems, exacerbated by the constant news reporting of corporate greed, government waste and world mayhem is enough to cause apoplexy! Talk about overload - that beach shack out at land's end is sounding better and better.

It was the word "mindfulness" that caught my eye, the newest approach to saving us from ourselves. In other words, slow down, be where you are, feel the moment, stop anticipating. I thought to myself, there are probably dozens of books published on this subject already - more self-help to add to the ever ballooning aisles of the personal growth area of any book store you walk into. But it was the name Dr. Herbert Benson, author of the 1975 best seller "The Relaxation Response," that kept me reading. At a time when stepping out of the straight and narrow boundaries of traditional medicine was very much disapproved of, Dr. Benson risked his reputation and career by publicizing his belief that stress reduction was a significant part of maintaining good health. Looking back, there was a time, not all that long ago, when a Mind/Body Center at any big-name prestigious hospital would have been unthinkable. Today you would be hard pressed to find a doctor who does not accept that stress has an effect on our general health. We can thank Dr. Benson, in my opinion, for that transition.

The Massachusetts General Hospital Benson-Henry Institute for Mind Body Medicine is dedicated to reducing stress through a variety of programs based on something called the Relaxation Response. By learning the simple techniques of diaphragm breathing, meditation, mindfulness, yoga, progressive muscle relaxation and guided imagery, we can change how we react to stress in our lives and thereby greatly reduce the negative impact stress has on our physical and emotional health.

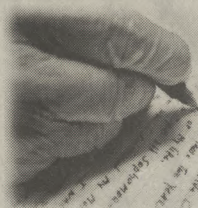

Somewhere I read that two-thirds of Americans are on, or have been on, some kind of "mind altering" drug - you know, to keep the lid on (could that possibly be true?). And from what I've observed, the other third should get down to their doctor's office for their allotment (just joking). Really though, to be able to Ho-Hum most of life's daily aggravations, irritations and exasperations has to feel pretty good compared to ranting and raving, stewing, simmering and grinding our guts - to say nothing of our peace of mind and well being.

So, right after finishing the article, I picked up the phone and said, I'll be right in! I sure could use an outlet for all this pent-up hostility. The initial consultation was an hour long - the doctors are called by their first names, no DOCTOR this-or-that. The personal profile questions (to help fit you into the appropriate class) had a lot of opportunity for humor. To me, keeping one's sense of humor is also an important part of staying sane - and healthy. One question asked me how I would describe myself. My answer: Trying to describe yourself is like trying to bite your own teeth (I gave Allen Ginsberg credit for that line). Another question asked if I was overly critical of others. My answer: You betcha. It should be interesting to see what class they think is right for me.

Headaches, aches and pains will wane - overeat, can't sleep, clean sweep - moody, off-key, we will see - stress to rest, illness to resilience - from back then to Zen.

Thanks for the time of my life

I would like to express my sincerest thanks for the outpouring of support and love we have received from Kim's beloved Town of Wilmington. To those of you who were fortunate enough to have been darkest time in my life, my most sincere thanks goes to you.

To her Jazzercise Family: make sure each and every one of you is dancing your hearts out. That is what Kim would want you to do. Kim always said, "the secret to life is to skip and dance, it will make you smile!"

To Kim's Middlesex Community College students and colleagues: you gave Kim her wings and she was flying high, her dedication and love will always be with you.

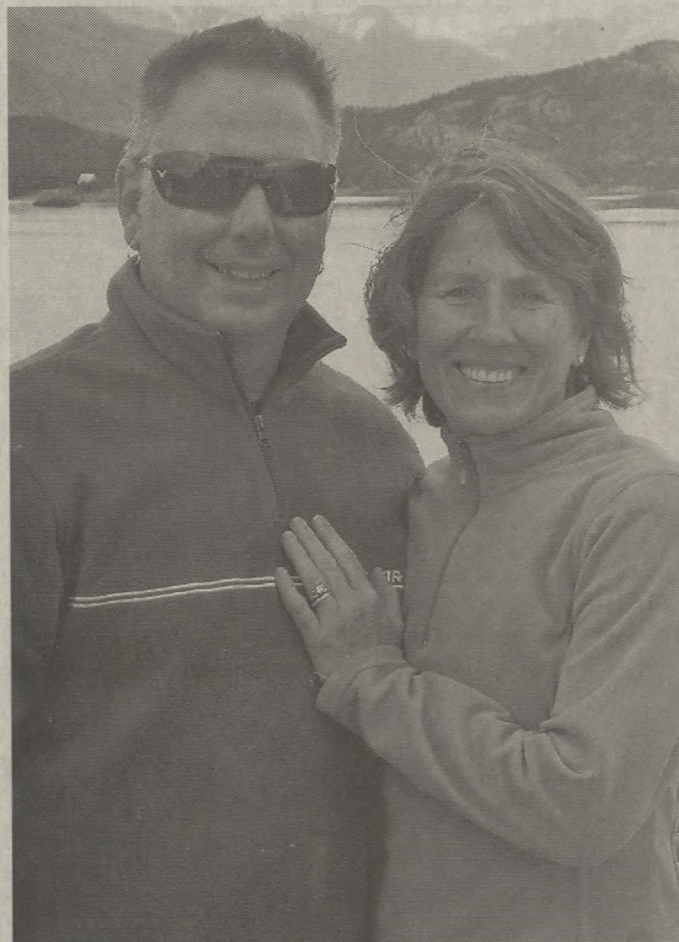

My friends Wow!

My family, God, you are all Amazing!

My beloved son, Tim, you provided me with such strength and love, how proud your mother is of you!

I hope that everyone takes a minute, gives a smile, lends a hand, or just a kind word. Keep Kim's legacies going. Kim's yearbook quote was "It's nice to be important, but more important to be nice".

My deepest thanks,

Shawsheen Tech honors Deacetis, Woods as February's top seniors

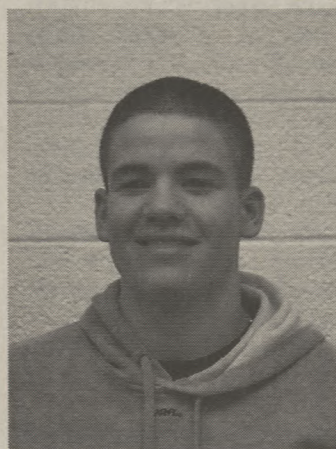

BILLERICA - Courtney Woods and Christopher Deacetis were recently honored as the February Seniors of the Month at Shawsheen Valley Technical High School.

Woods, a Tewksbury resident, is an outstanding member of the school's Business Technology department and plans to study accounting in college next year. She hopes to some day become a CPA and possibly own her own practice.

If her career as a student at Shawsheen Tech is any indication, Woods' goals are well within reach.

She is ranked fifth academically in the senior class and has an impressive list of academic achievements.

An honor roll student, Woods has been a member of the National Honor Society for the past two years and has also earned Citizenship Awards for biology, English and business technology.

Christopher Deacetis

Woods has also participated in Skills USA all four years she has been at Shawsheen Tech.

When Woods isn't hitting the books, she stays busy with several activities including dancing and scrapbooking. Her activities at school have included Student Council, the Recycling Club and the Business Professionals of America.

Deacetis, also of Tewksbury, is a drafting student at Shawsheen and has been an important part of the student body as both a scholar and an athlete.

Deacetis has embraced the skills he has learned in high school and hopes to attend college to major in either architecture or landscape architecture. His exciting future plans include designing houses and maybe even golf courses. He admits that one day, he'd love to create his own golf course.

It's no surprise that Deacetis was a member of Shawsheen's championship golf team this fall. He's golfed for the Rams for the past three years while also playing baseball and wrestling at the school. Deacetis enjoyed another championship this winter as the Ram wrestlers won both the Commonwealth Athletic Conference title and the state vocational crown.

Courtney Woods

He's no slouch in the classroom either, maintaining a top 15 rank academically in the senior class.

Deacetis has been in the National Honor Society for two years, has earned high honors for the past three years and has earned a Citizenship Award in math.

His other hobbies include basketball, running and lifting weights.

Food DVDS

Check out these DVDS at the library for more information on the food industry and the food we eat:

Food, Inc. - Filmmaker Robert Kenner lifts the veil on our nation's food industry, exposing the highly mechanized underbelly that has been hidden from the American consumer with the consent of our government's regulatory agencies, USDA and FDA. Our nation's food supply is now controlled by a handful of corporations that often put profit ahead of consumer health, the livelihood of the American farmer, the safety of workers and our own environment. We have bigger-breasted chickens, the perfect pork chop, herbicide-resistant soybean seeds, even tomatoes that won't go bad, but we also have new strains of E. coli—the harmful bacteria that causes illness for an estimated 73,000 Americans annually. We are riddled with widespread obesity, particularly among children, and an epidemic level of diabetes among adults. From www.foodincmovie.com

Fresh celebrates the farmers, thinkers and business people across America who are re-inventing our food system. Among several main characters, Fresh features urban farmer and activist, Will Allen, the recipient of MacArthur's 2008 Genius Award; sustainable farmer and entrepreneur, Joel Salatin, made famous by Michael Pollan's book, The Omnivore's Dilemma; and supermarket owner, David Ball, challenging our Wal-Mart dominated economy. Wilmington club teaches unique sport critical component to success, again emphasizing the mental focus required. Footwork is another key fencing skill. "You must trick your opponent with footwork and not just the blade." As he explains it, world class competitions are often won with simple moves. In fact, it can often come down to a single move.

Modern fencing has deep ties to the historical forms of dueling and combat that gave birth to the sport. Epee, the type of fencing taught at the Penta Club, is most like dueling. A "touch" anywhere on the opponent results in a point scored. Unlike a traditional duel where the first to draw blood wins, fencers basically compete in a three-minute bout where five "touches" (or highest score at the end) wins.

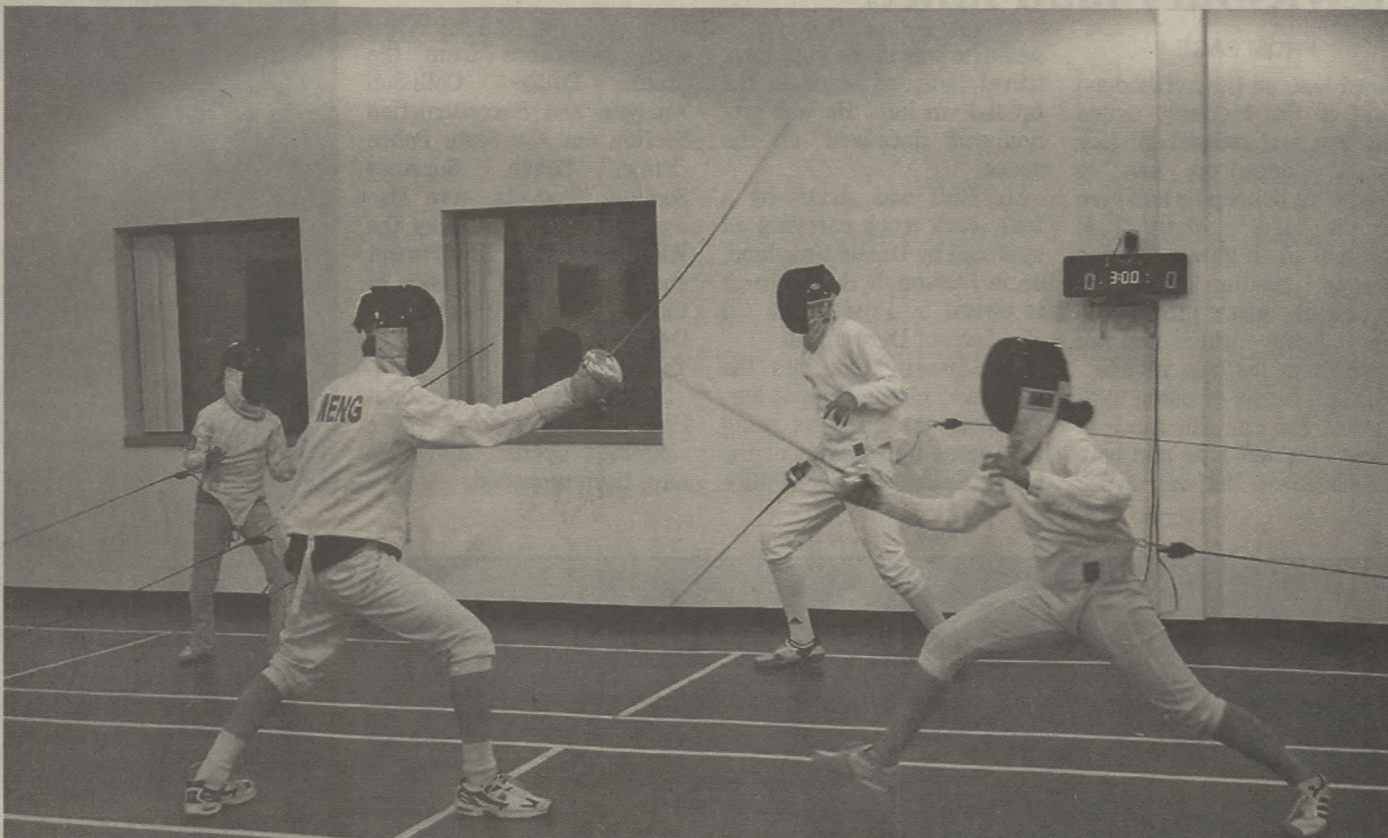

Fencing matches are held on a strip that is 1.5 meters wide and 14 meters long. The weapons are wired and connected to an electronic scoring device. A touch on the opponent results in a flashing light and a scored point. Participants wear extensive safety gear including masks, jackets, and gloves. They are made of materials such as Kevlar, so they are light yet strong.

The club conducts formal classes, but also holds open sessions on Saturdays. This provides an opportunity for additional practice or to bring friends and family to share in the fun. Iagorashvili is there encouraging and instructing as needed. There is a definite sense of community among the members.

Attendees include beginners and seasoned competitors alike. When asked about the types of people who join, Iagorashvili explained, "I have one member who started fencing at age 50. That was about five years ago." Some members participate in high school or college fencing programs as well, but they come to Iagorashvili for additional training. Iagorashvili is not only an elite athlete; he has credentials and experience with coaching and teaching including coaching three US Pentathlon teams.

Many members of the Penta Fencing Club have gone on to become nationally ranked or medal winners themselves. Most recently at the US Fencing Junior Olympics, Rachael Clark, age 16, won Penta Fencing Club members train using epee blades, a relatively lightweight weapon with a large hand guard. Electronic sensors on the blade record "touches" and award points during three-minute periods. Extensive protective gear helps ensure the safety of participants.

the Silver Medal in the Cadet Division Women's Epee competition. Last year, Penta's Alex House, also age 16, won a Gold Medal at the Junior Olympics. He was ranked fourth nationally by the US Fencing Association. Obviously quite proud of her son, Ann House says there's more to the sport than just the competition and fitness aspects. "It's the sportsmanship; it's the life lessons they learn in fencing." She feels strongly that the focus and discipline of fencing easily carry over to other things these young people do. To learn more about the sport of fencing, visit www.usfencing.org or www.pentafencingclub.com/Fencing.html.

Election slate set

Michael McCoy and Ray Lepore both returned papers for re-election. Judy O'Connell, formerly of the Wilmington School Committee, is also on the ballot as is local developer and perennial candidate Mark Nelson. George Lingenfelter did not return his nomination papers.

For School Committee the slate grew this week with the last minute entry of Manuel "Manny" Mulas. Mulas, a regional director for a Chicago display firm and a small business owner, pulled papers at 4:10 p.m. last Thursday afternoon and returned them by 5:00 p.m. Friday.

Mulas told the Crier that he was encouraged to run by the Women of Wilmington and a mothers' group, prompting his late entry into the race. As a father of two young children, ages 5 and 7, he says he wants to represent the many families in town with young children who want to see a new high school and adds that he senses some anti-incumbent sentiment. Mulas has not attended any building committee meetings or school committee meetings but says he keeps up with what is going on.

"I'm looking forward to the race," said Mulas. "I think there's a lot of people out there who are looking for some changes. There's a lot of young parents that may want to see new people on the School Committee."

He joins incumbent Dr. Leslee Quick as well as Virginia Bonish, Karl Sagal, and Michael Bodnar.

Patrick Keogan returned his nomination papers for Redevelopment Authority. According to Town Clerk Sharon George, he is the first person to run for a seat on the authority in at least six years.

All candidates' signatures were certified and will appear on the ballot. A candidate may still pull out of the election without his or her name appearing on the ballot by submitting a written notice to the Town Clerk by March 21.

Chamber welcomes Team Hoyt

diagnosed as a spastic quadriplegic with cerebral palsy. His parents, Dick and Judy, were told that there was no chance for recovery or a 'normal life.' They were advised to institutionalize their son, but instead championed Rick's right to inclusion in community, sports, education and the workplace.

Despite Rick's inability to speak or walk, Dick and Judy took him sledding, swimming, and even taught him the alphabet and basic words. Having proven his intelligence, they pushed school administrators to see past Rick's physical limitations. In 1972, with the help of a talented group of engineers at Tufts University, an interactive computer was built for

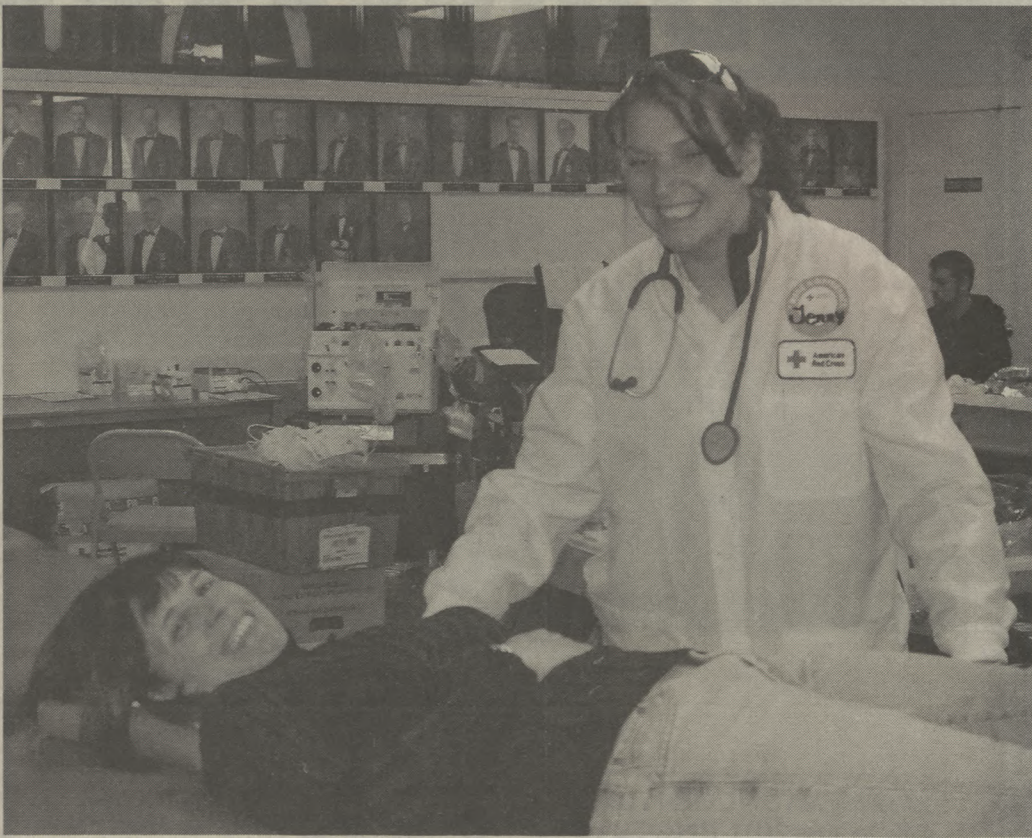

Rick, enabling him to communicate. Rick began attending public school at the age of 13 and went on to graduate from Boston University with a degree in special education.

The formation of Team Hoyt began in 1977 when Rick wanted to participate in a five-mile run to benefit a lacrosse player who had been paralyzed in an accident. Dick agreed to push Rick in his wheelchair and they finished the race, coming in next to last. That night, according to the Team Hoyt website, Rick told his father, "Dad, when I'm running, it feels like I'm not handicapped."

Since that first race, Team Hoyt has gone on to inspire countless people by participating in more than 1,000 races, including marathons, duathlons and triathlons. Dick and Rick biked and ran across the United States in 1992, completing a full 3,735 miles in 45 days.

Team Hoyt is now preparing for their 29th Boston Marathon, which will be held on April 18. Don't miss your opportunity to hear Dick's message of "Yes, you can" during the Chamber of Commerce's annual luncheon. The luncheon will be held at the Shriners Fez Room, located at 99 Fordham Road, in Wilmington. The public is welcome and tickets are priced at $20. Contact Nancy Vallee at the Chamber at 978-657-7211 or via email at wilmingtonchamber@verizon.net.

down lane on the northbound side of the highway, exited the car, and crossed all four traffic lanes on foot to retrieve a hubcap he had seen in the median strip. That stretch of highway has a grassy median with a guardrail. After picking up the hubcap - which had not come from his own vehicle - Mr. Ruff began crossing back toward his car. He made it across the left lane and both middle lanes, but was struck while he was in the rightmost travel lane, adjacent to the breakdown lane. He was pronounced deceased at the scene.

Mr. Ruff was struck by a 2007 Mack truck carrying oil operated by Daniel Hoagland, 40, of Hudson, N.H. The truck is owned by Fred Fuller Oil Co., Inc., of Derry, N.H.

The investigation into the facts and circumstances surrounding the crash is being conducted by Troop A of the Massachusetts State Police with assistance from the State Police Collision Analysis and Reconstruction Section and the State Police Crime Scene Services Section. Troopers were also assisted at the scene by the Wilmington Fire Department and the Highway Division of the Massachusetts Department of Transportation.

During the crash investigation, only one lane of traffic remained open. All lanes have been reopened.

Sharon George, who maintains the records for the town. She has three large binders just for personnel at Wilmington High School.

Under state law, every two years all current state, county and municipal employees must complete online training. New public employees must complete this training within 30 days of beginning public service, and every two years thereafter. Upon completing the program, employees print out the completion certificate and provide a copy to the Town or City Clerk for municipal employees.

The law went into effect last year. Lepore, like all other town employees at the time, were required to submit the certificate for the online training by April 2010. That training is valid until April 2012.

"I don't have email. I don't own a computer. I grew up in the old school," Lepore explained. "That's the reason I don't have email. I'm not into the computer part of it. I'm always out on the road. Even my cell phone is pretty low tech, it doesn't even have a camera."

However, Lepore says he will take steps to complete the online training as soon as possible.

"I'll take care of it. Its another thing to add to the list," said Lepore. Lepore, 60, owns a septic installation and cleaning business. He has kept up to date on laws and regulations in the septic business during the course of his career.

However, he contends that the new law is not very friendly to older members of the community who do not use computers in day-to-day life or business.

"It's getting to the point where you can't have the option of not learning about computers. You have to have computer knowledge," said Lepore.

Michael McCoy, also a candidate for re-election, turned in his certificate for online ethics training Tuesday morning.

Employees, which include elected officials, must also sign a statement that they received a summary of the conflict of interest law. Lepore told the Crier Tuesday that he recalls signing the document during a Selectmen's meeting, but he is not sure it was returned to the Town Clerk following the meeting. There are no penalties in the law if the mandatory training is not completed on time; the priority is just to get it done.

All three Wildcat teams slide in tournament

Hockey squad out in semi's

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

BILLERICA — Just being competitive and finishing in the middle of the pack of the Cape Ann League standings would have been a pretty good accomplishment. Qualifying for the state tournament? Perhaps, if some bounces went their way. Winning the league championship title, advancing to the sectional semi-finals for the second straight year and finishing with 18 wins? Yeah right, and Charlie Sheen has no personal issues.

Heading into this year's hockey season, the Wilmington High School Wildcats had some major rebuilding to do. After all, the team lost 16 players from last year's team which went unbeaten until getting knocked off in the semi-finals to league rival Newburyport. Sporting a team with just four or five players with varsity experience, a second line consisting of three freshmen, a third line of guys from the JV team and a new goalie, the thought of hanging around with the best of them wasn't on the front burner.

But when this tremendous season finally came to a halt on Tuesday night, saying the Wildcats overachieved is a gross understatement. This team captured the league title for the fourth straight year, defeated two teams in the state tournament, and then ran out of gas in the program's second straight sectional semi-final game losing to the No. 4 seed Saugus Sachems, 5-1, before a very large crowd at the Chelmsford Forum.

Saugus erupted for three first period goals, the first coming just 32 seconds into the game, the second at the 2:32 mark and the third at the 7:15 mark. Wilmington did cut the deficit to two goals with 5:22 to go, but Saugus officially put the game away with two more goals in the second period.

With that win, Saugus advances to the sectional final on Friday night to take on Tewksbury, who crushed

Beverly, 6-1, in the tail end of the semifinal doubleheader. The Redmen have been on a roll since Wilmington white-washed them 6-0 just two weeks ago. But for Wilmington as well as the team played throughout the entire season, the opposite happened at the most inop-

Another No. 1 seed taken down

Two years ago the Wilmington High School Boys Basketball team basically had no answer for Mike Clifford, the 6-foot-7 center from Bishop Fenwick who torched the Wildcats for 26 points and 20 rebounds in a 71-60 overtime playoff game.

Last Thursday night, the Wildcats again had no answer against another Big Guy, as Winchester's 6-foot-9 junior center Pete Miller dominated the Wildcats to a time of 24 points and 20 rebounds as the No. 16 seed knocked off the No. 1 seed, 72-61, in a Division 2 North first round playoff game played before a packed house at the Cushing Memorial Gymnasium.

Wilmington had a small three-point lead with 4:16 to go in the third quarter and at that time Miller had 17 points. About 70 seconds before Vinny Scifo scored on a nice pass from Nick Godzyk, the Wildcats called timeout and elected to change its defense from man-to-man, to a 2-3 zone. After Scifo's bucket made it 42-39 with 4:16 to go, Winchester took advantage of the defensive switch with four treys in a span of 1:34 as part of the team's 14-0 run. The Wildcats never recovered from that impressive stretch of shooting, especially from sophomore Ryan Murphy who sank three of those four from beyond the arc.

NORTH ANDOVER — Sometimes there is just a team that you cannot solve, and unfortunately for the Wilmington High Girls Basketball team, this year that team was Cape Ann League foe North Andover High School.

On Sunday afternoon, the Wildcats fell to the Scarlet Knights for the third time this season, dropping a 51-35 decision in the quarterfinals of the Division 2 North Sectional Tournament held at NAHS.

The Wildcats turned the ball over 17 times in the first half against the stingy North Andover defense and fell into a 29-13 hole at the break from which they were never able to recover despite playing much better in the second half. Wilmington actually closed to within eight points in the third quarter, but some hot shooting by North Andover stemmed the Wildcat rally and the No. 2 seed Scarlet Knights were able to hold on for the win.

North Andover improved to 18-4 overall with the win, while No. 10 seed Wilmington wrapped up their season at 12-10.

"North Andover is a very good team. They were undefeated in the Cape Ann League for a reason," Wilmington coach Jay Keane said. "We had a tough time getting our offense going against them in the first half. We tried to simplify things a little in the second half and we made a nice run there. The girls played hard right to the last second and I was proud of that."

Indeed, Wilmington did battle all the way to the end, but it was the start that ultimately doomed them as North Andover went out to a 10-0 lead early in the game.

The Wildcats scored their first points of the game with 2:05 left in the first quarter on a bucket by senior forward Amanda Keane (8 points). Still they trailed just 10-5 at the end of one quarter after junior guard Emily Crannell nailed a three-pointer with a minute left in the quarter.

But North Andover quickly extended the lead once again with a 13-0 run to start the second quarter, with senior forward Caitlin Enright and sophomore guard Morgan Lumb doing most of the damage with nine of the 13 points.

Most of the points for the Scarlet Knights came off of turnovers as they were able

Quarterfinal match-up a thriller 'til the end(s)

STONEHAM - It was a game that if it had been lost would have been a devastating way to end the season, but instead it turned out to be probably the most thrilling win of the season for the Wilmington High Boys Hockey team. Junior forward Dalton Rolli's second goal of the game, with 5:05 left in overtime gave the Wildcats a heart pounding 4-3 win over Masconomet in the quarterfinals of the Division 2 North Sectional Tournament on Saturday night at Stoneham Arena.

Masco had rallied back from a 3-0 deficit midway through the third period to tie the game, scoring two goals in the final 1:20 of regulation including the game tying goal with 0.3 seconds left in the game, both goals coming with the Masco goalie pulled.

Rolli, who had given the Wildcats a 3-0 lead with a goal early in the third period, took a pass off the boards from senior forward Andy Owens and skated to the left faceoff circle where he ripped off a perfect wrist shot to beat Masco goalie Casey Tudor low to the glove side and move the Wildcats on to the sectional semi-final against Saugus on Tuesday night.

"I just took the puck off the boards and when I saw it was a 2-on-2, I just figured I would take the shot," Rolli said. "I just got lucky that it went in."

But before that game winner, Masco stole the dramatics earlier scoring that controversial goal with less than a second left in regulation.

"That's why they have defibrillators at these games," Wilmington coach Steve Scanlon joked after the game. "It was questionable whether it went in with time left or not, but we should not have been in that situation in the first place."

Masco's tying goal came with 0.0 showing on the game clock, but the officials ruled that the puck had gone in with 0.3 seconds left in the game. It appeared that the officials had made the correct call.

The win improved the top seeded Wildcats to 18-2-2 on the season, while No. 9 seed Masco finished their season at 14-7-2.

With Wilmington holding their 3-0 lead after Rolli's first goal of the game, a slap shot from just outside the blue line at the 3:40 mark of the third period, Masco's comeback started innocently enough.

Chieftain senior forward Scott Woods got them on the board at 3-1 with 7:31 left in the game, picking the top corner against senior goalie Joey Aucoin (18 saves) on a perfect shot. That was Masco's first shot of the period, but it seemed to spark them, as they out shot the Wildcats 7-4 in the third.

"I thought the big goal in all of that was the power play goal," Scanlon said of the Masco comeback. "We were up 3-0 and that gave them their start. The most dangerous lead in hockey is a two goal lead."

Even though Masco seemed to be controlling play for the next several minutes, it appeared as if the Wildcats were going to close out the win in regulation, as they held a 3-1 lead in the closing minutes. With 1:27 left in the game, a desperate Masco squad called timeout and pulled Tudor from the net, hoping to catch lighting in a bottle twice.

It took them just seven seconds to catch that lightning the first time, as senior Patrick Crosby pulled the Chieftains within one right off of a faceoff in the Wilmington end. The puck came back to him after the faceoff win, and he patiently moved in front of the net, and much like the first Masco goal, he perfectly picked the corner to make the score 3-2 with 1:20 left in the game.

Masco capped the comeback on another goal by Woods, as he pounced on a loose puck with the final seconds ticking away and popped it into the back of the Wilmington net to set off a wild celebration by the Chieftains.

The referees conferred for a few minutes after the final buzzer, but ultimately ruled that the goal would stand and an elated Masco squad and a dejected Wilmington squad headed for overtime.

All the momentum seemed to be in Masco's favor, but Rolli and company had other ideas and it was the Wildcats who moved on.

"Give Masco credit, they came back and did not give up," Scanlon said. "But give us credit as well. We could have folded and felt sorry for ourselves after they tied it, but we did not."

Wilmington had taken a 2-0 lead with two goals in the final 5:12 of the second period.

Wiser Rolli snaps off game winner in OT

STONEHAM - Last year he ended up with one point, playing sparingly. On Saturday night, his wrist shot through the five hole during overtime gave Dalton Rolli his 17th goal of the season, and more importantly that tally lifted Wilmington past Masconomet, 4-3, to advance to the sectional semi-finals for the second straight year.

But when reporters asked Rolli about going from putting up a doughnut to scoring 17 from one season to the next, he gave a very honest and surprising answer.

"We had 16 seniors on last year's team and we had no room (for me)," he said. "And look at the seniors we had last year - there were so many great players, great leaders and guys who really knew the game. I was immature at the beginning of the season and I started on the JV team. I think (my immaturity) helped (head coach Steve Scanlon's) decision of not putting me up with the varsity team. Last year I was just stupid whether it was my reactions, retaliations and I just got engaged with a lot of things. I just thought I was the tough kid out there and I was stupid, absolutely stupid."

And while he says he may have made some ill-advised decisions as a sophomore, Rolli, most especially in the second half of this season, started to really become a force to be reckon with. A very physical player, who has speed to burn and a terrific wrist, snap and slap shot, Rolli became a player. Part of that was his ability to 'grow up' and another part is being along line-mates Andy and Cam Owens, as the trio combined for over well 100 points this season including goal numbers 16 and 17 from Rolli coming Saturday night when the team needed a big lift over its arch rivals.

After scoring the team's third goal, Rolli and the rest of the Wildcats thought they had a comfortable 3-0 lead. But Masco stormed back scoring three goals, including the game tying goal with 0.3 seconds left in regulation.

"After the 3-0 lead, we were all excited and we thought we had the game in the bag," said Rolli. "Obviously they came back and scored those two goals in what 45 seconds, and they showed us that they weren't going to give up and we knew that we had to finish it. It was a great finish for us. I think it was more exciting for us finishing the game in overtime, than they having the tying goal. I mean they celebrated like they won the Stanley Cup. That was a little overboard so I think karma was on their side there for a little bit. It just shows that you have to finish all the way until the very end (and we did that)."

Before Rolli's dramatic overtime goal happened, he said that it was the veterans on the team who once again helped him, and the rest of the team, get steered back in the right direction.

"We were obviously were down on ourselves (after the third period) and we didn't want to give up that two goal lead," he said. "We were definitely tired and we knew that we had to come back and score the goal to win it. (Senior captain) Brian Hurley was awesome getting us back (focused in the locker room before the overtime period). I love that kid. We were down emotionally and we're a young team so we don't know how to handle those kinds of emotions and those expectations. Hurley really helped us out. We didn't want to lose this game and he really got us fired up."

With just over five minutes left in the over time period, Rolli picked up a pass off the right hand boards from Andy Owens just over the red line. Rolli skated into the Masconomet end, and with two defensemen in front of him, he elected to take that hard shot that he possesses. This one took off, low, hard and went right through the wickets of the Masconomet goalie, allowing Rolli and company to celebrate as if they won the Stanley Cup.

"I just got the puck off the boards, and I came down the ice and I thought I had the shot (to take) and it was a 2-on-2 (break) and I thought 'why not shoot it' and it went through the kids' legs and I got lucky," he said.

WOBURN - The Wilmington High Boys Hockey team did not play their best game of the season in the first round of the Division 2 North Sectional Tournament last Wednesday night at O'Brien Arena. In fact given the excellence the Wildcats displayed all season long, it may not have even been in their top ten.

But the most important thing in tournament play, of course is to get the win and advance to the next round and the top seeded Wildcats found a way to do just that, with a 4-2 win over No. 16 seed Danvers, advancing to a quarterfinal match up with Cape Ann League rival Masconomet on Saturday.

The Wildcats, who improved to 17-2-2 on the season with the win, got goals from four different players, including two in a 43 second span in the second period, and an outstanding effort in net from senior goalie Joe Aucoin, who turned aside 26 shots in the victory. After the game, Wilmington coach Steve Scanlon made it very clear that he expected a better effort out of his team if they planned on advancing further in the tournament.

"I am happy with the result, but I thought we played poorly," Wilmington coach Steve Scanlon said. "Our effort was minimal, we had poor back checking and no defensive zone coverage. We were fortunate to survive."

After a scoreless first period in which Wilmington actually controlled play, out shooting Danvers by a 10-5 margin, the Wildcats got off to a very slow start in the second period, seeing Danvers completely dominate play for the first several minutes of the period.

Wilmington in fact, had no shots on net for over eight minutes of the period, while Danvers was peppering Aucoin with several fine chances to take the lead. Aucoin's finest saves came in a 30 second span early in the period, when Danvers had a pair of sparkling chances, the second of which came from point blank range in front of Aucoin.

But the senior star came up with a pair of big saves to keep the game scoreless with 12:30 left in the period.

Scanlon was happy with his goaltending, but not with the chances the Falcons were getting.

"Joe came up huge for us," Scanlon said. "At a few points in the game, I felt like it was just him and our two defensemen keeping us in the game against their five players. Our forwards did not want to get physical and we had too many unforced errors."

After Danvers maintained control for the next several minutes it appeared they were poised to take the lead, but then the Wildcats used their quick strike ability to take control. First, senior defenseman Brian Hurley, off of fine set up at the point from sophomore forward Cam Owens, gave the Wildcats a 1-0 lead on a slap shot through the legs of Danvers goalie Seth Kamens with 6:46 left in the period. Junior Dalton Rolli also assisted on the goal, which came on the Wildcats second shot of the period.

Just 43 seconds later, the Wildcats top line struck again, when Cam Owens, Andy Owens and Rolli combined on a perfectly executed 3-on-1 for a 2-0 lead when Andy potted another perfect pass from Cam past the stunned Kamens with 6:03 left in the period.

"The first goal is huge in a tournament game," Scanlon said. "So to get that and to come back with another quick one the way we did was huge as far as turning back their momentum a little."

The score would remain that way through the rest of the period, but just 3:12 into the third period Danvers pulled within one when Brian O'Keefe scored from an impossible angle at the side of the Wilmington net, putting the puck just under the crossbar to make the score 2-1.

Before Danvers could get too excited about their good fortune, however, Wilmington freshman

Brendan McDonough made it 3-1 just over a minute later at the 4:33 mark of the period on an assist from John Langenfeld.

Things settled down for a few minutes after the goals, but the frantic pace resumed with 5:33 left in the game when Cam Owens scored a spectacular unassisted goal, taking the face off just outside the Wilmington zone and rushing up ice past Danvers defenders before potting a nifty backhand for a 4-1 lead for the Wildcats.

Danvers responded just over a minute later, with 4:21 left on a goal by Jack Doyle, but it was not enough for the Falcons who saw their season come to an end at the hands of the Wildcats who began to prepare for Masco.

"Hopefully we learned a lesson that we need to play better to win in the tournament," Scanlon said. "I would rather learn it this way than learn it the hard way by losing, but I was disappointed with the way we played."

Wilmington High senior defenseman Brian Hurley had a terrific season for the boys hockey team.

Hurley set the tone early in Danvers win

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

WOBURN — It was the middle of the second period in the Wilmington High Boys Hockey team's first round game in the Division 2 North Sectional Tournament against Danvers last Wednesday night, and while the score was scoreless, Danvers had clearly seized control of the game, just missing several scoring opportunities and holding the Wildcats without a shot through the first eight minutes of the second period.

The Wildcats needed somebody to step up. It probably came as no surprise to followers of the team this season that the person who answered that call and stepped up first was senior captain and defenseman Brian Hurley.

On Wilmington's second shot of the period, Hurley ripped off a slap shot from that point and beat Danvers goalie Seth Kamens between the pads at the 8:14 mark of the second period, giving the Wildcats a 1-0 lead and shifting the momentum back in their favor.

Moments after Hurley's goal, Andy Owens tallied another goal for the Wildcats and they were off and running with a 2-0 lead and they never looked back.

"The first goal is huge in a tournament game," Wilmington coach Steve Scanlon said. "So to get that and to come back with another quick one the way we did was huge as far as turning back their momentum a little."

And the fact that his senior captain is the one who potted the goal that gave the Wildcats the lead and the momentum came as no surprise for Scanlon.

"Brian is our leader," Scanlon said. "That was a big goal for us when it did not look like it was going to come. And he is a physical presence out there for us."

Hurley knew his team was not playing well at the time of his goal, and he was glad he was the one who got them started. He credited the perfect pass from sophomore forward Cam Owens for helping to set up the big tally.

"I got a good pass, and I just tried to step up and get it on net," Hurley said. "I was not aiming, I was just glad it went in. It was big to get that first goal of the game. It gave us the confidence we needed to get going."

It wasn't just Hurley's big goal that helped lead the Wildcats to victory. He was also a force on defense. On a night when Scanlon was not very pleased with the overall defensive effort of his team, he was very happy with Hurley and his fellow defensemen John Langenfeld, John Malone and Brian Pickett.

"Brian (Hurley) gave us a good effort," Scanlon said. "I thought all of our defensemen played well. At times I felt like it was just our goalie and our two defensemen against their five players."

After taking their 2-0 lead the Wildcats maintained it for the rest of the second period, but Danvers pulled within 2-1 with just under 12 minutes left in the game, forcing Hurley and his fellow Wildcat defensemen to buckle down even more.

"We definitely had to tighten up a little more at that point, but really we tried to play like that the whole game," Hurley said. "I try to not look at the scoreboard."

And as great as the win was for Hurley and his teammates, he also knew that they will have to play even better for the rest of the tournament if they want to end up on the winning side of the scoreboard the rest of the way.

"We definitely need to step up a little," Hurley said. "We were a little flat at times tonight but I'm sure we will get that fixed in practice and we will play better."

because the big kid was giving us fits obviously," said Wildcat head coach Joe Maiella. "We scouted them two times and we didn't think they would hurt us as much from the outside. ued to kill us if we stayed man-to-man. He's a scholarship player. We had to pick our poison, and their kids stepped up and made those (three-point) shots."

After that 14-0 run,

Winchester was up by 11, and then led by 12 after the third quarter ended. The Wildcats closed it to seven after Chris Frissore sank back-to-back shots, including a three-pointer, within the first 45 seconds of the fourth quarter. Winchester followed with a 9-0 run with two more three-pointers making it a 16-point game with 4:35 to go. Wilmington didn't quite as Timmy McCarthy got hot scoring the team's final 11 points. His third trey in a span of 1:25 cut the deficit to seven with 1:48 to go, but Winchester's Caleb Unni closed the game by connecting on four consecutive free throws.

"Losing is tough and it's tough to be the number one seed," said Maiella. "They are a number 16 seed but they are not a 16 seed. They are a good team and they can go out and win the whole thing. They're going to beat Brighton (in the second round game on Monday night). They are a good solid team, and that's what the Middlesex League is going to be all about. (Winchester) finished 10-10 in the Middlesex League. That's a very good solid team. They beat Burlington, they beat Melrose, they beat Reading twice and they are a good solid team.

"It's just tough to end this way at home - you do all of the work in the regular season to get the top seed, to get a home game and possibly of two home games and it stinks to lose. But they are a good team and that Miller kid is tough and he's a scholarship player."

For Wilmington, Scifo led the way with 18 points, followed by McCarthy with 15, Cole Pepper off the bench with 12 and Frissore with 11. The Wildcats struggled mightily on the boards ending with just 17, while, Miller himself had 20. Miller led the way for the Sachems with 24 points, while three of his teammates also ended in double figures.

Wilmington ends the season with a 17-4 overall record, which included being co-champions of the Cape Ann League, and also earning the Wilmington Christmas Tournament Championship with wins over Tewksbury and Burlington.

"I can't be prouder of our guys," said Maiella. "They won 17 games this year. And that's tough. (Competing in) Division two is a whole other animal than Division three and people have to realize that. Division two is awfully tough and there's just so much depth in the entire bracket."

The loss meant the end of the careers for senior tri-captains Chris Frissore, Nick Godzyk and Derek O'Dea, as well as fellow senior players Mike Arria and Jesse Bozzella and senior team managers Kevin Mitchell and Dylan Sullivan.

"It's tough losing the seniors," said Maiella. "They are a great group of kids. We had a fun year and we have a lot coming back but it's going to be a battle in the Middlesex League. It's going to be a battle and we'll see how we respond next year. We have a lot of talent coming back but it's going to be different in the Middlesex League. I just want to thank all of the kids - they were great. We had so many good moments this year with (wins against) Hamilton-Wenham, North Andover, Masco, winning the Christmas Tournament. This has been a great, great year."

to turn defense into offense in an instant while racing to their 29-13 halftime lead.

"North Andover plays very good team defense and they were able to get a lot of easy baskets because of it," Keane said as the Knights held Tewksbury to just 16 points in their previous tournament win. "It wasn't necessarily our defense allowing them to score, but it was transition. They would get turnovers and come down with a 2-on-1 or 3-on-2 and make layups."

As bad as things were at the half for the Wildcats they did not give up and actually came out fired up in the second half. Wilmington went on a 10-2 run to start the half, led primarily by working the ball inside to junior Maggie Brown who scored six of the 10 points on the run.

A drive to the hoop by Keane brought Wilmington within 31-23 with 3:43 left in the third quarter forcing North Andover to call a timeout. But following the timeout North Andover went on an 8-0 run to close the quarter with a comfortable 39-23 lead.

"We were working the ball in to Maggie and it was working for us," Keane said. "She can finish inside, and if there was nothing there she can kick it back out, so it was working for a while. But then they got a turnover, got another basket in transition and they were able to extend the lead again."

The Wildcats still did not give up, closing to within ten at 39-29 on a basket by junior forward Jen Stewart (6 points, 10 rebounds) early in the fourth quarter, but once again the Scarlet Knights were able to put the Wildcats away with Lumb (21 points) putting the capper on the day with a three pointer to make it 46-29 with 2:51 left in the game.

"It was a good season. Were we happy with it? Yes," Keane said. "Obviously we would like to be playing for a couple more games, but that was a great effort by us. I will take that effort every single time."

The effort Keane got from his entire team was typical of the effort he saw all season and that was no more evident than the effort he got from his three seniors all season long.

Katie Aoki, Taylor Hanley and Amanda Keane all provided not just on court excellence, but off court leadership.

"They were outstanding leaders. They came to practice every single day and worked hard and they all accepted their roles," Keane said. "We will miss Amanda because she is so athletic and losing Katie and Taylor will be hard for us as well. Taylor did a good job for us off the bench and Katie was starting for us at the beginning of the year, but then she did well for us later in the year coming off the bench."

At the same time, however, Coach Keane is excited about the future for his team that will bring back several key players from this year's team. Players like freshmen guards Carli and Christa Brent, along with juniors Emily Crannell, Meaghan Stinson, Jen Stewart and Maggie Brown among others should make for another exciting season next year.

"We do have a good core group," he said. "Every year it seems we have some kids who get some experience and come back the next year and are able to contribute right away and that was certainly the case this year. Today we started four juniors, and we have a lot of good pieces in place for next year."

Wildcat Hockey team falls to Saugus in sectional semi-finals fortune time.

"If you give up goals rapid fire like two in a minute, it's awfully tough to come back," said Wildcat head coach Steve Scanlon. "That team was ready to go and they are quick. We weren't ready to go and we made mistakes early. And then we got completely out of our system. I'm not going to take anything away from them, but that was as bad as we have played all season. Our defensive zone coverage was non-existent, but I don't think you can fault (our) goaltending. We just had a bad night - a bad night on a night where you can't have a bad night."

Saugus was very fast, especially its first line as Kurt Rodriguez really hurt the Wildcats in the neutral zone taking many odd man rushes up the left wing boards. He ended the night with four points, scoring three goals and adding an assist.

"(Saugus) came as advertised," said Scanlon. "They are quick, they have good goaltending and tonight they just worked, worked and worked. Nothing really jumps out at you but they have a couple of pesky forwards. They outplayed us and they capitalized on their opportunities."

Trailing 3-0 with 6:45 left in the first period, Scanlon called a timeout to try to settle his troops down.

"A slow start is something that bothered us all season long," said Scanlon. "Kids not ready to go until seven or eight minutes into a game that hurts you. If you get away with it, that's one thing but if you're pulling pucks out of your net (just minutes) into the game (is too tough). You can't start slow in a tournament game."

That timeout seemed to work as Wilmington played much better over the next 10 to 12 minutes. With 5:22 left in the first period, the gritty freshmen line worked very well to get the team on the scoreboard. Luke Foley worked very hard in the right hand corner fighting off a defender, and the puck squirted loose to Brendan McDonough and after the puck bounced in front of the net, Cody McGowan put a quick shot through the five hole of goalie Nick Hegarty, who played very well turning away 33 of 34 shots.

Wilmington continued that pressure in the second period. Adam Siegel had a real good bid coming off the left wing side and his put a hard wrist shot that went off the shoulder of Hegarty. A few seconds later, captain Brian Hurley put a low hard shot on from the point and Andy Owens was able to get to the open space for two rebound shots which were both stopped by Hegarty. But with 7:02 to go in the period, a tricky bounce in front of the net led to Rodriguez finding the back of it and the game was all but over at that point.

"We thought we could catch lightning in a bottle twice once the state tournament started," said Scanlon. "We were really playing well during that (school) vacation week. But tonight we did a lot of standing around which is something we didn't do and it's disappointing. We had a bad night and you can't have bad nights in the state tournament."

Saugus added another goal late in the second period to take a 5-1 lead. Scanlon then decided to lift senior goalie Joe Aucoin in favor of freshman Drew Foley for the final period.

"It was a hard (decision) but I didn't think it would be fair leaving (Aucoin) out there," said Scanlon. "I mean what if we stopped playing? We didn't in the third period and I was proud of the kids for keep on fighting. But I didn't want to hang (Aucoin) out to dry."

Aucoin is one of nine seniors who played in their final game on Tuesday night. Defensemen Brian Hurley, John Malone, John Langenfeld, Brendan Munro and forwards David Sugrue, Andy Owens and Drew Cummings also played one final time.

"We graduated so many kids from last year's team and when you look at tonight's game, it's really a matter of having a lot of inexperienced kids," said Scanlon. "I think you saw some of that tonight - we were a little spooked at the start of the game. But throughout the season, my seniors did a great, great job. Malone and Hurley have been rocks for us for a couple of years - Andy and Joey were also great this season. Dave Sugrue is a lunchpale kind of kid, Brendan Munro is a good teammate to have - so you have to have a good senior class.

"Usually how your seniors go is how your season goes and they did a good job of pulling all of those young kids together and making a team out of them. Not too many people even had us qualifying for the state tournament, nevermind getting here.

"It's disappointing and I know the kids are hurting right now, but truth be told if you said at the beginning of the season that we'd be in a sectional semi-final game after the class that we graduated, I would have told you that you are crazy," he continued. "The kids did a hell of a job this season, they really have."

Wilmington resident Joe Pendenza finished with ten goals this season as a Freshmen on the UMass-Lowell men's hockey team. (photos courtesy/UML).

Wilmington resident and former AC player

Pendenza has big freshman year for UML Hockey team

By DAN IGO
Sports Correspondent

Joseph Pendenza began his freshman year on the UMass Lowell hockey team stuck firmly on the bench, logging DNP's in two of the first three games of the season. What a difference six months makes. Pendenza, a forward from Wilmington, finished the season on both his team's power play and penalty kill lines. He scored 10 goals in his freshman campaign, the first River Hawk frosh to net at least 10 since 2006-07. He also scored a goal against UMass Amherst that was broadcast live on NESN. All in all, Pendenza went through a whirlwind first season to kick off his collegiate hockey career. "I was really expecting too much coming into this year," he said. "I thought that if I worked hard I'd get my opportunity. Did I expect to be on the power play or penalty kill? No, I thought it would be more for next year. I'm definitely happy with the time I'm getting on the ice and I'm really liking it." UMass Lowell head coach Blaise MacDonald said that even though Pendenza started the season on the bench, he definitely earned his place on the ice. "He has a better grasp of the system, style of play and Hockey East in general," he said. "He's better prepared for the grind (of college hockey)." Pendenza graduated from Arlington Catholic last year while also skating for the Boston Jr. Bruins of the Eastern Junior Hockey League. He tallied 48 points his last year with the Jr. Bruins and also served as team captain. He said UMass Lowell was a natural choice for him. "The education was a real good fit for me," he said. "I liked that it was close to home. It gives me the opportunity to go home whenever I feel and my parents are able to see a lot of my games too." His coach said it was natural for the school to go after players like Pendenza. "We prefer local guys we can build relationships with," MacDonald said. "The transition for (Pendenza) was easier and he was able to earn respect in the locker room quickly." The difference between collegiate hockey and hockey at the high school and junior level is night and day. When you add the fact that the conference UMass Lowell is in, Hockey East, has produced the last three national champions, that difference is even more drastic. Pendenza said that it took time for him to adapt to the next level. "Teams are a lot more physical," he said. "They're stronger so you have to be stronger on your stick and stronger on the puck. That's probably been the biggest difference I've had to make an adjustment with. I had to get stronger with the puck at the beginning of the season; I got knocked off a little too much." The jump from high school to college doesn't just occur on the ice. The ability to adapt to an academic workload, to go along with practice, film study and the weight room is vital for an athlete. Pendenza says the upperclassmen on his team have given him some sound advice on how to balance all of his responsibilities. "The seniors and juniors have really been helping me out," he said. "The one thing they've all stressed is time management. Carrying a college workload isn't easy, even if you're not playing sports. You really have to schedule yourself, whether it's doing a little bit of homework before practice so that way you don't have to do too much after practice." Homework certainly wasn't on Pendenza's mind back in January when his squad took on UMass Amherst. The game was being broadcast live to all of New England on NESN, so Pendenza said he definitely was more anxious before the game. But scoring a goal on TV is something that he'll remember for a long time. "There's a little bit of added pressure," he said. "A lot of people I went to school with at A.C. were watching. It's definitely a little bit of pressure but it's kind of fun knowing that everyone is watching and that all eyes are on you. I got some texts after the game from some of my old buddies saying 'nice goal.'" The season was a rough one for the River Hawks. They finished with a record of 5-25-4 overall and 4-21-2 in Hockey East play. However, MacDonald said the potential is bright in Lowell because of Pendenza and all the young guys on the team who earned playing time. "(Pendenza) will definitely see an amplified role next year," he said. "We're a talented young team who is taking our lumps. Going into the future this will be a big help." Pendenza still has three years left of eligibility at UMass Lowell. And while he has looked ahead at life after college, he's staying in the present. "I'm going to try to continue what I got going this year and see where it takes me," he said. "Maybe if it takes me to play pro in like Europe I'd look at that. But I'm just going to take it one step at a time."

Tewksbury most likely will apply

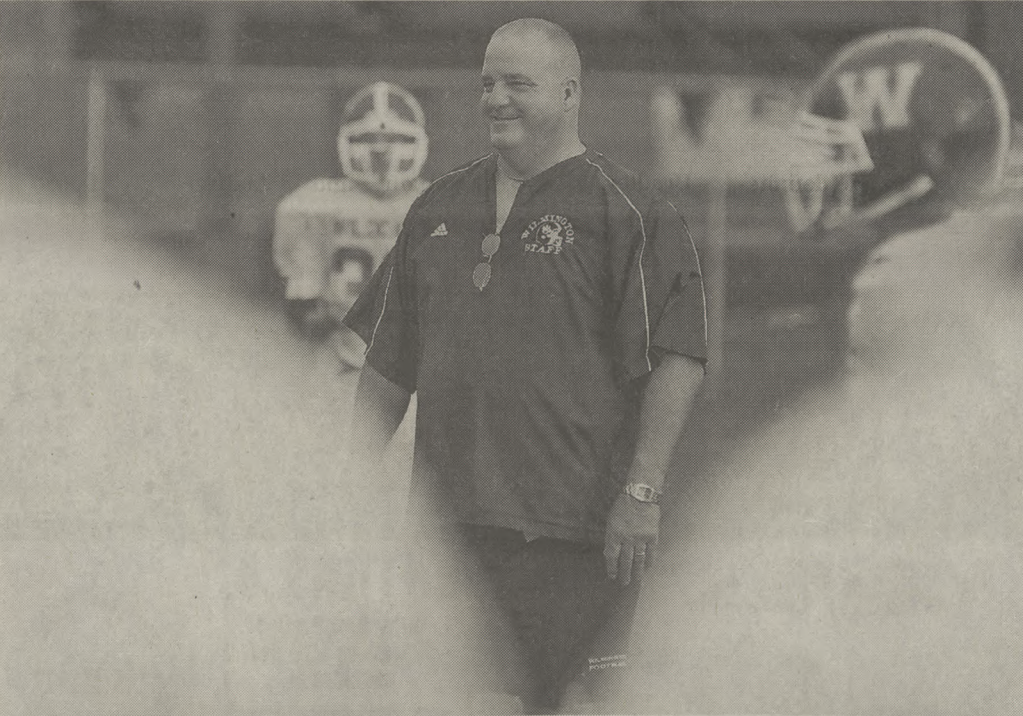

DCL now accepting applications for expansion

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

According to a Lowell Sun story published Wednesday morning, Dual County League Athletic Directors met with their principals on Tuesday and the school officials elected to approve expansion plans within the league, but extended no specific invitations to the five Merrimack Valley Conference who have been rumored to join the DCL, including Tewksbury. The officials of the DCL set a May 1st deadline for those schools wishing to join the league, and official invitations will be then be offered to schools by June 30th. It's been said over the last few months that Tewksbury along with Billerica, Andover, Chelmsford and Dracut would like to leave the MVC and join the DCL to make up what would then be a 15-team league since Tyngsboro and Arlington are leaving the league this June. Tewksbury Memorial High School Athletic Director Brian Hickey has made no secrets over the last few years that he's interested in finding out what else is out there in terms of finding a better fit for this entire athletic program, including applying to enter the Middlesex League which elected to take Wilmington and Arlington. Those two programs will start in their new league this September. Tewksbury and Dracut are the two smallest teams in the MVC. Dracut has about 1,100 students and Tewksbury has about 150 less, and those numbers would fit with some of the smaller teams as Concord-Carlisle has the most students at 1,200. The DCL's 12 current members are Acton-Boxboro, Westford, Bedford, Concord-Carlisle, Lincoln-Sudbury, Boston Latin, Wayland, Weston, Waltham, Newton South, Arlington and Tyngsboro. Tyngsboro is leaving after this school year for the Midland-Wachusett League in Central Mass., and Arlington for the Middlesex League. The formal application process outlined by the DCL "puts the ball in our court to make a decision whether to apply," said Hickey in the Sun story. "There has been some interest on our part (and) there continues to be some interest." If all five, or any of the MVC teams do shift to the different league, competition in the DCL would start in the fall of 2013, as the MVC has a rule that states all teams must give a two-year notice before leaving the conference. The five teams that have been rumored to be interested in joining the DCL, have said the problems within the MVC start with having to compete against Central Catholic, while scheduling headaches and several programs not providing various varsity sports such as lacrosse and girls' hockey have also become issues. Several weeks ago, school officials from the MVC met with state senators to discuss the future of the league. "I would hope state senators have something more to do than get involved in high school league alignments," Concord-Carlisle Athletic Director Barry Haley, who is president of the MIAA, said in the Lowell Sun story. "Leagues formed 40-50 years ago don't meet the needs of kids today. Westford was a sleepy farm town 20 years ago. Look at it now. We look to do what is best for the kids, to not put them in inequitable situations." The entire Merrimack Valley Conference seems to be in complete disarray. While those five teams have expressed interest in leaving for the DCL, Notre Dame Academy (girls only) appear to be leaving for the Commonwealth Athletic Conference and Haverhill has said to be leaving the MVC and replacing Wilmington in the Cape Ann League. That move would make a lot of sense for the Hillies, with travel time, and facing teams who match up much better competitively. If all of that happens, it would leave Lowell, Methuen, Central Catholic and Lawrence as the four teams in the MVC. According to the Sun, Westford Academy Principal Jim Antonelli, president of the DCL, said those submitting formal applications will be asked to make presentations before DCL principals and athletic directors. "We're not asking them to genuflect before us, it's just a process we go through as a league," he said. "We're not afraid of change, but we want to know if ultimately it's good for the kids."

Almeida leaves MC, and joins a Middlesex League program

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Former Wilmington High School Football coach Bob Almeida, resigned from his head coaching position at Malden Catholic this past week and has moved on to become the offensive coordinator at Stoneham High School. Almeida, a Wilmington resident and middle school physical education teacher, spent the past three years at Malden Catholic compiling a record of 16-17, which included two 6-5 seasons in 2008 and 2010. Before that he spent the previous 12 years as the head coach at WHS where he compiled a record of 103-29-1 (ranks him second all-time in the program history), which includes being a part of five league titles, one solo and four shared. After the 2010 season ended, Almeida said that he sought a different head coaching position, applying for the Lexington job after Bill Tighe retired. Almeida was in the final running but didn't get it. After that, he decided it was time to take on a different role in his long coaching career, and although he enjoyed his three years at MC, he's looking forward to this new challenge. "I took some time to look at other promising jobs (after not getting the Lexington position) and I had to decide what I wanted to do at this point of my career, and I decided to take the offensive coordinator's position at Stoneham High," said Almeida. At Stoneham, Almeida will work under head coach Dave Pignone, who became the school's athletic director back in August of 2007, and completed his first season as head football coach this past fall. "I have great confidence in Dave and I think he's an outstanding coach," said Almeida. "I actually played football for his father back in Pop Warner. I like Dave and I think this is a good opportunity. I love football, I love coaching and I love kids." Stoneham has lost 31 consecutive football games, thus rebuilding the program will be a major chore. "I'm going to be working for someone who I really respect," said Almeida. "Stoneham is the smallest team in the Middlesex League, and it's competitive league. I think it's going to be a great challenge and a lot of fun to get this program turned around. Dave has this infectious personality. He's very passionate and we're looking forward to working together." During his three years at Malden Catholic, Almeida accomplished a lot. Before arriving at MC, the program had five straight losing seasons and enjoyed one winning season from 1998 to 2007, and now will be on its fifth coach in the past 12 years. "The kids at Malden Catholic were phenomenal," said Almeida. "They worked very hard. I think we changed the culture over there. The attitude of the kids' is tremendous and that wasn't the case when we were brought in. I think we worked very hard over there all three years. We had a winning season two of the three years and it was a while since the program had a winning season before we were there. It's a very tough (Catholic Conference) league to compete in and we knew that going in. And the coaching staff I had was great - I had some real good guys with me." Over the last few weeks

Willey takes 157-pound crowned NE Championship crown

By DAN IGO
Sports Correspondent

Mike Willey's dream season for the Plymouth State wrestling team continued as the junior from Tewksbury won the New England Championship in the 157-pound weight class last Sunday at the 34th Annual New England Wrestling Association Championships in Hartford, Conn.

Willey had placed in fourth place in 2009 and fifth place last year, so the win was extra sweet. He was the top seed and went a perfect 5-0 in the tournament.

Willey has been dominant throughout the year. He posted a record of 23-1 and holds a career mark of 64-18.

His season isn't over just yet. He will compete in the NCAA Division III National Championships on Mar. 11-12 at La Crosse, Wisc. He is the first Panther to compete in the national championships since 2007.

The Town Crier will have a feature story on Willey and his performance at the Nationals in an upcoming issue.

Evan White can add another award to his growing trophy case as the UMass Lowell standout was named to the U.S. Track & Field and Cross Country Coaches Association All-East Region team last week.

White, a sophomore, earned the status in three events: the 200 meters, the 400 meters and the 4x400 meter relay. He has earned the top seed in the 200 meter dash at the NCAA Division II Indoor Track and Field Championship, which kick off Friday in Albuquerque, NM. He has posted the fastest time in the country in that event at 21.09 seconds.

"There are three or four guys in the field who can win this, and Evan is one of them," said UMass Lowell Head Coach Gary Gardner. "The 200 is a race in which you need to be good and lucky on the same day. He definitely ly has a chance to win this." Tewksbury's Karie Judge was also named to the All-East Region Team for her performance in the 800 meters.

Casey Pickett was named the "Pure Hockey Player of the Week" for her performance on the Northeastern University women's hockey team last week.

The Wilmington native, a sophomore forward, had two goals and an assist in the Huskies' 4-0 win over UConn in the Hockey East quarterfinals. The following game she had two assists in a 4-2 upset win over Boston University in the semifinals.

The Huskies fell to Boston College in the Hockey East championship game 3-1 (aired live on NESN on Sunday), but Pickett extended her point streak to three games as she scored a goal in the first period.

Pickett had an outstanding defenseman who is a graduate of Central Catholic, notched his assist at the 8:50 mark of the second overtime. The Falcons came into the game ranked fourth in the MASCAC tournament, while UMass Dartmouth was ranked first.

The Falcons followed that upset victory with another one, as they knocked off No. 2 Salem State 6-5 in the MASCAC game on Saturday. They now await a bid into the NCAA Tournament.

Tewksbury's Vinny DePierro pitched a scoreless inning for the UMass Lowell baseball team in its 8-0 win over Caldwell College on Saturday in New Jersey. The sophomore Tewksbury High graduate had two strikeouts in his inning of work.

A ton of local runners competed in road races over the weekend, including the Claddagh Pub 4-Miler in Lawrence on Sunday. On the Wilmington side, WHS Hall of Famer Catherine Banda was the top local finisher as she placed 107th with a time of 31:33. Katey Sullivan came (724th, 56:30) rounded out the Wilmington runners.

Almeida leaves MC

there have been several openings for varsity football coaches between Lowell, Lexington, Winchester, Durfee and now Malden Catholic. Just like when he left WHS and recommended now head coach Mike Barry for the position, Almeida's doing the same after leaving MC.

"Our defensive co-ordinator Jeff Smith is also the school's vice principal and he did a great job with our defense," said Almeida. "I think he definitely deserves the chance to take over and I think the school would be crazy not to hire him. I want to see what's best for those MC kids and having him as the new coach I think would be the best for the program. I'm hoping he can take the program to the next level if he's named as the replacement."

For the past 15 years Almeida has been a head varsity football coach, and how his role will change as an assistant.

"Dave wants to run the split-back offense, so we're hoping we'll be able to do that, be able to execute it and have success with it," said Almeida.

Before coming to Wilmington, Almeida spent time as an assistant coach at Belmont High, so he has familiarity with the Middlesex League. This September the league is expanding adding both Wilmington and Arlington, meanwhile splitting the league into two divisions, large and small. Stoneham will join Wilmington, Wakefield, Burlington, Watertown and Melrose in the small school division, while Reading, Woburn, Winchester, Arlington, Lexington and Belmont will be in the large school division. Each team will play its five league opponents as well as two cross over games with the other divisional teams, before adding four non-league games. Wilmington and Stoneham will now play each other every year and Almeida is looking forward to those games.

"(Mike) Barry sent me a text the other day saying that when we play each other this year he hopes it's at Wilmington so he can see me on the other side of the field," said Almeida with a laugh. "I think that's going to be a lot of fun."

And fun, Almeida said, is all he had while at WHS.

"It's the most fun I've ever had as a coach," he said. "Those 12 years were great and I don't regret one second. Mike has done a great job in his three years keeping the program (competing at a high successful rate) and we're hoping in Stoneham that we'll be able to get to that same (successful) level."

Rams Hockey team sends Lowell packing, advance to semi-finals

BILLERICA -- The Shawsheen Tech Boys Hockey team got their post season off to a rollicking start on Sunday night in the quarterfinals of the Division 3 North Sectional Tournament, with a thrilling 3-1 win over Lowell at the Chelmsford Forum.

The top seeded Rams improved to 17-4-1 on the season with the win and advanced to the sectional semi-finals where they will take on Wayland on Thursday the Rams appeared to be on their heels as they headed to the locker room for the second intermission.

"Lowell had all the momentum at that point," Shawsheen coach Chuck Baker said. "I told (the kids) we had to shut it down and get the first goal and that's what we did. We got an early goal and that shifted the momentum back to us. They threw everything at us. I've seen Lowell a couple times this year. That's one heck of a team."

their last game.

"We've now gone nine or ten days without a game, so I think we were a little out of game shape as far as our legs go, but to be honest with you I think it was kind of a gutsy effort after going that long without a game," Baker said. "They (Lowell) are coming off a battle on Thursday so they were a little more in that zone as far as playing a game. I was not real happy after the second period, but our kids came out and showed a gutsy effort in the third."

Wayland finished second in the Merrimack Valley Conference Division 3 with an overall record of 13-6-1, while they went 8-4 in the league.

The two teams have played three common opponents this season.

Wayland was 1-0-1 against Lowell on the season, tying them 2-2 on New Year's Day and beating them 2-0 on January 27.

Wayland dropped a pair of decisions to another MVC Division 3 rival, Dracut, by scores of 2-1 and 3-1 earlier in the season, while Shawsheen beat the Middies by a score of 3-1.

Meanwhile, Wayland beat CAC runner up Rockport by a score of 4-1 in their most recent game in the quarterfinals of the tournament and the Rams beat their CAC foe by scores of 7-2 and 3-2 during the regular season.

BILLERICA -- The Shawsheen Tech girls basketball team used a sharp shooting offensive attack as well as an opportunistic defense and coasted to a 55-36 victory over North Shore Essex Agricultural School on Sunday afternoon in the quarterfinal round of the Division 4 North Sectional Tournament at the Cook Street Pavilion.

With the win, Shawsheen improved to 20-3 on the season, while No. 9 seed North Shore finished at 12-10.

All season long it has been a balanced attack that led Shawsheen to the Commonwealth Athletic Conference title and the number one seed in the sectional tournament and Sunday's quarterfinal was no exception as the Lady Rams spread out their scoring almost evenly among five players.

Junior point guard Kimberly Barriss led the way for Shawsheen with 10 points, seven assists and five steals, while sophomore center Stephanie Champoux of Wilmington added ten points, senior Jessica Houghton had nine, sophomore Arianna Medeiros of Tewksbury had eight and senior Taylor Marshall had eight points, five rebounds and three steals.

"We need to work as a team because that is the only way we are going to win," Shawsheen coach Dick Barriss said. "We are not talented enough to win if we don't do that. That is typically what we get. We don't care who shoots it, just whoever

Maskell's key save ignites Rams to win

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

BILLERICA -- The Shawsheen Tech Hockey team was clinging to a 2-1 lead late in the third period in their quarterfinal game in the Division 3 Sectional Tournament against Lowell on Saturday night, but Lowell had clearly seized the momentum and now it looked like they were going to seize a tie game as well as the Red Raiders broke into the Shawsheen zone on a 2-on-0 break with only Rams senior goalie Ryan Maskell standing between them and a tie game.

But rather than tying up the game, Lowell's Brent Sullivan instead was stoned on a brilliant save by Maskell with 3:45 left in the game, keeping the Rams in the lead in a game they would ultimately win 3-1 after an empty net goal late in the game.

It was a game changing play, and Shawsheen coach Chuck Baker was glad that he had his senior net minder as the last line of defense.

"We never should have been in that situation, but our defensemen were kind of sleeping and I don't know why," Baker said. "Ryan is one of those kids, when I watch him in practice he lets up some easy goals, but you put him in a big game situation and he makes some spectacular saves. That was just a tremendous amount of concentration and determination by him to make that save."

The save was just one of the 17 that Maskell had to make on the night, but it was clearly the biggest, and Maskell knew that he had to come up big for his team in that situation. Thankfully he was well prepared for it.

"We actually work on that in practice all the time and I just saw him going for the fake pass so I figured he was going to shoot," Maskell said. "At least that's what the kids in practice do all the time so I just said the heck with it I am not going to go across the net and I was able to make the save."

The experience of working on that play in practice certainly helped Maskell, but so did his tournament experience. He had played in state tournament games last season for the Rams and also played in several big games throughout this season. He was able to draw on that experience throughout the game, particularly after giving up the goal that made the score 1-1 late in the second period.

"I'm not going to lie, when I let up that goal I was a little shook up, but I just knew I had to put it behind me and get it done," Maskell said.

Maskell and the entire team were able to get it done and move on to a Thursday night matchup with Wayland in the sectional semi-finals. Maskell feels that now that his team has their tournament legs under them they can be even better as they move on.

"It was huge to get this first win. We hadn't had a game in a long time (ten days), because of getting the bye so it was good to go against some competition because practice was getting kind of boring," Maskell said. "But we stepped up and got the win. I definitely feel like we can build on this going forward."

night at the Chelmsford Forum at 6:10. The No. 8 seed Lowell Red Raiders wrapped up its season at 12-8-2.

Shawsheen junior forward Joe Sodergren of Tewksbury scored what would prove to be the game winner 56 seconds into the third period, snapping a 1-1 tie when he scored on the rebound of a shot from the point by junior defenseman Ronnie Popp for his 23rd goal of the season.

Sodergren's junior linemate Tom Price, who also assisted on the game winner, scored his second goal of the game and 15th of the season into an empty net with 35 seconds left to seal the win for the Rams.

Lowell seemed to be in control heading into the final frame. The Rams had taken a 1-0 lead into the first intermission on Price's first goal of the game in the final minute of the first period, but Lowell seized the momentum late in the second period and

The game was far from finished at that point of course, as Lowell had several chances to tie, including a 2-on-0 break with just under four minutes left in the game, but Shawsheen senior goalie Ryan Maskell of Wilmington came up with a huge stop to keep the Rams in the lead.

It looked like Lowell was going to get a great opportunity to tie the game in the final minute when Shawsheen was called for a cross checking penalty at the 12:49 mark, but when Lowell was called for a hooking penalty just 20 seconds later the team were playing at 4-on-4 and the Red Raiders were forced to pull goalie Mike Doucette for the extra skater and Price took advantage with the empty netter that moved the Rams on to the sectional semi-finals.

Baker was happy to see his team move on, particularly considering long layoff since Shawsheen had taken the first lead of the game with 45 seconds left in the first period on Price's first goal of the game, a brilliant tip in on another Popp shot from the point.

"I don't know what to say about Tommy, he's just a dog," Baker said. "He sticks his nose in there, all 130 pounds of him. He just goes every single night for me. It doesn't matter if he's injured, he doesn't tell me anything. He just goes."

Lowell got the game tying goal at the 12:39 mark of the second period on a goal by junior forward Rory O'Connor on an assist from Pat Carrigan, but Sodergren's big tally early in the third period held up for the Rams thanks to a solid effort from Maskell in the Shawsheen net.

The Rams will now take on No. 5 seed Wayland in Thursday's semi-final.

has a good shot, take the shot."

On this afternoon there were several Lady Rams who heeded that advice and knocked down but shots, particularly in the first half when Shawsheen raced out to a 35-21 lead.

The game was fairly close in the early going with Shawsheen holding a slim 9-6 lead after Essex Aggie's Kim Schuyler knocked down a three pointer with 2:58 left in the first quarter, but from there the Shawsheen offense took over and began to turn the game into a rout.

The Lady Rams went on a 12-3 run to end the first quarter, led by six points from Champoux and another four from Jamie Mahoney to take a 21-9 lead at the end of one.

Shawsheen continued the assault in the second quarter with Barriss and Houghton leading the way. The Lady Rams extended the lead to as many as 17 with 2:00 left in the half on a bucket by Marshall which made the score 33-16.

The game never seemed to be in doubt after the half, but Dick Barriss was taking nothing for granted and he made sure he reminded his team that the game was not over at that point.

"You are still trying to do things and still trying to make sure the kids play smart basketball at that point," Barriss said. "We still want to take smart shots and continue working together as a team."

Shawsheen certainly did that, particularly in the third quarter when they took their largest lead of the game at 26 points when Medeiros knocked down a three pointer to make the score 48-22 with 2:21 left in the third quarter.

Essex Aggie went on an 8-0 run to close the quarter and pull within 48-30, but that was as close as they would get, as Meredith Bonugli snapped the run with a short jumper on Shawsheen's first possession of the fourth quarter and the Lady Rams coasted from there.

If there was one troubling aspect of the game for the Lady Rams it was their free throw shooting as they struggled mightily from the line, going 7-for-19 on the day.

"That's definitely a concern," Barriss said. "We were awful and as we move on to the next round we have to fix that because there is no way we can survive if we shoot like that from the line."

After the game, the Lady Rams began preparing for their semi-final matchup with No. 5 seed New Mission who have won their first two tournament games by 30 and 20 points, respectively.

"They are a real good team," Barriss said. "They are fast and talented. They will be the best team we play all year. If we don't bring our 'A' game we will be in trouble."

In Shawsheen's first game of the tournament on Thursday night they pulled off what many would consider an upset with a 58-56 win over No. 16 seed Georgetown. Although Shawsheen was the No. 1 seed, Georgetown played a Division 3 schedule all season long and had ended Shawsheen's season two years ago in the first round of the tournament when they were seeded 15th and Shawsheen was second.

This year, however, things were different, as Shawsheen got an outstanding performance from Champoux, who had 16 points and 14 rebounds as well as the game winning shot when as he put back a rebound with two seconds left in the game.

The Lady Rams also got 12 points, five rebounds and three steals from Kimberly Barriss as well as eight points each from Taylor Marshall and Taylor Bergstrom.

Shawsheen led by 12 points with just three minutes left in the game, but Georgetown fought back to tie it before Champoux made her big basket.

"That's a real nice win for us," Barriss said. "It's the first time in I believe three tries that we have been able to beat them in the tournament. They made a great rally at the end of the game, but Stephanie made a big basket for us at the end. That was chaos at the end and then all of a sudden the ball just went in."

from every school are forming the Faculty Dream Team and hope to beat the undefeated Harlem Superstars which includes 7-footer Ricky Lopez!

The Harlem Superstars are a group of talented basketball players whose main mission in life is to entertain kids and their families through the game of exciting show time basketball. The game consists of a lot of fan to player interaction and they have a very enjoyable halftime show where they bring out kids from the stands to participate in a contest for a chance to win a prize.

Players from the Harlem Superstars will visit each elementary school on the day of the game to deliver a motivational message and have a little fun with the students. It is a great time for the students to interact with some very tall, fun and motivational players.

The game starts at 6:30 at the WHS gym. Santa Maria will serve various food items such as pizza and chicken fingers. Tickets are $8.00 at the door or can be purchased in advance at the Department of Recreation for $7.00 each or through the flyers found on the school district websites. The event was packed last year, so the club recommends you buy your tickets early to ensure you get tickets. This is a family fun event that is not to be missed.

Tewksbury Fifth Grade Boys take league title

Congratulations to coach Sal Monteneri and the Fifth Grade Tewksbury Boys Basketball Travel Team for winning the Merrimack Valley Division Championship against Haverhill. The final score was 46-37. The team played a tough game against Haverhill but was able to pull together for the win. Saturday's one-point exciting semifinal win versus Pelham, NH included a drive and game winning free-throw with one second on the clock to win 42-41. The team includes (pictured to the left): back row from left: Troy Acconcia, Alex Papageorgiou, Jared Mason, Jesse Lamarca, John Ciampa, Masyn Lorick and David Giuggio; and front row from left: Joe Dulock, Christopher Monteneri, Alex Benning and Alec Hirtle. The coaches include: Assistant Coach Tom Benning, Coach Sal Monteneri, and Assistant Coach Mike Giuggio. (courtesy photo).

K of C crowns five winners

Five Free Throw Shooters, representing Fr. Croke Council Knights of Columbus in Wilmington, were victorious in the K of C District Shoot-out held recently at the Andover K of C Gymnasium. Facing contestants from the Burlington and Tewksbury Councils, the Wilmington shooters took five of the ten age categories in which they competed and those youths included:

On the boys side, Brendon O'Donoghue age 10; Brendan McIrney age 11; Justin Leger age 12; and Zachary Abbott age 13; and on the girls side was Madison Knibbs, age 11.

The other five Wilmington shooters were very competitive and lost by slim margins.

Of particular note, Sara Cokash was edged out in the 14 year-old girl's competition. Over the past five years, Sara has won the right to represent Fr. Croke Council by winning the Council shoot-out all five years. Best wishes to Sara in her high school career.

These five shooters will now advance to the Northern Region Shoot-out, at the Coolidge School in Reading, on March 12th. Winners from that contest qualify for the K of C State Championships, to be held at Catholic Memorial High School on April 2nd. Congratulations to this fine group of shooters and good luck in the Regionals.

Wildcat Fifth Grade Girls champs

FROM STONEHAM TO CLEVELAND: THE JOURNEY OF THE AMOSKEAG STEAM FIRE ENGINE

By RYAN LAROCHE

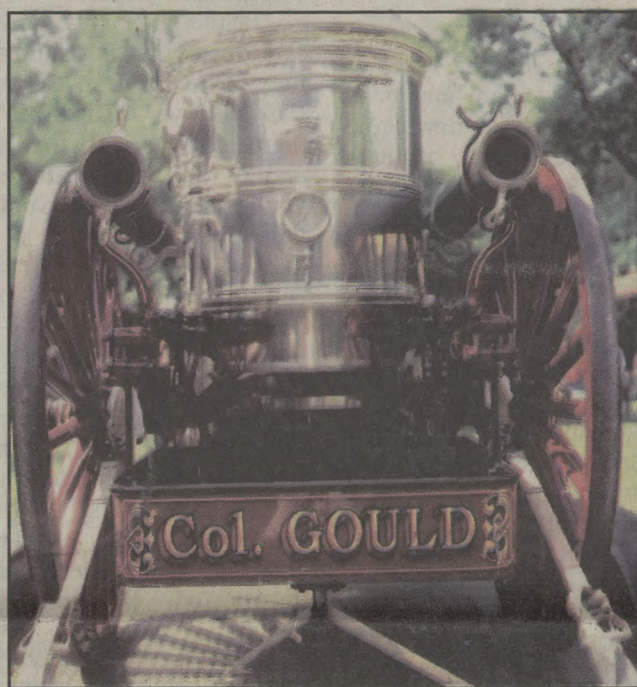

History books tell us about the past. We read the words, but rarely do we get to see it. But when it's there, in person, it's a site to behold. Sometimes, it happens by chance. This is how a fire engine used by the Stoneham Fire Department from 1891-1927 ended up in Cleveland, Ohio.

The steamer was built in Manchester, NH by Amoskeag. They manufactured approximately 865 fire engines with three different types: good, better, and best. The one that made it to Cleveland is called a Double Crane Neck Second Size and is considered in the best category because it's 60 percent nickel-plated.

By 1912, though, Stoneham had upgraded to a motorized Seagrave Wagon. According to the secretary of the Stoneham Historical Commission, Marcia Wengen, they continued to own the Amoskeag Steamer until 1927. At that point, for whatever reason, Stoneham sold it to a contractor in Boston.

Back in 1891, the town paid $3,500 (a hefty sum in those days) and traded in its old fire engine to purchase the Amoskeag. By 1927, it had become outdated.

Although no one is sure who purchased it in Boston, Steve Hildebrandt, the man who would eventually buy it and bring it out to Cleveland, discovered the contractor used it to pump out flood cellars on the waterfront. He also said that the unknown Bostonian sold it to (the now deceased) Charles R. Wood who lived in Glens Falls, NY.

Wood was known as the "Grandfather of the American Amusement Park," as he started his amusement park called Storytown USA in upstate New York (Queensbury, 1954) a year before Walt Disney. That park would eventually fall under the Six Flags umbrella.

Hildebrandt said Wood was a well-to-do man and bought the steamer as an attraction for his park (sometime in the 1950s), something the kids could climb on (perhaps not realizing, or caring about, the value it possessed). In fact, Wood had two Amoskeag Steamers (no one knew how much he paid for each, though one can assume a good amount considering what Stoneham paid for it in 1891). It's here where Hildebrandt becomes a part of the story.

Living in Cleveland, Hildebrandt said a friend of his planned to buy both steamers. Unfortunately, the friend was going through a divorce at the time and couldn't afford the cost of both. So, in March of 1991, Hildebrandt stepped in and agreed to take one off his hands.

The Cleveland native stored the steamer for a year before taking it to a friend's to have it restored. While it wasn't com-

"THE ADJUSTMENT BUREAU" A GOOD SCI-FI FLICK

MATT DAMON AND EMILY BLUNT STAR in the new science fiction thriller "The Adjustment Bureau." They have great chemistry and give strong performances. During the film Damon (David) learns he is up against the agents of Fate itself who are trying to keep him away from a beautiful ballet dancer that he loves. All in all it's a good sci-fi flick. On top of that it has good effects.

"THE ADJUSTMENT BUREAU"

GRADE: ***

Strong performances and chemistry you can believe in by the two leads help make 'The Adjustment Bureau' much more than your average science fiction thriller.

The film asks the basic question, do we control our destiny, or do unseen forces manipulate us? Matt Damon stars as a man who glimpses the future that Fate has planned for him and realizes he wants something else. To get it, he must pursue the only woman he's ever loved across, under and through the streets of modern-day New York.

On the brink of winning a seat in the U.S. Senate, ambitious politician David Norris (Damon) meets beautiful contemporary ballet dancer Elise Sellas (Emily Blunt) - a woman like none he's ever known. But just as he realizes he's falling for her, mysterious men conspire to keep the two apart. David learns he is up against the agents of Fate itself - the men of the mysterious Adjustment Bureau - who will do everything in their considerable power to prevent David and Elise from being together.

In the face of overwhelming odds, he must either let her go and accept a predetermined path, or risk everything to defy Fate and be with her. The Adjustment Bureau is written for the screen and directed by George Nolfi (writer of Ocean's Twelve, co-writer of The Bourne Ultimatum) and is based on a short story by Philip K. Dick ("Total Recall," "Minority Report" and "Blade Runner").

You see, a romantic pairing of David and Elise is not part of Fate's Master Plan, so the men in hats (led by John Slattery) resort to intimidation to keep the two apart. Because he is now ahead of his intended time line, David catches a glimpse of the Adjustment Bureau at work: When he walks into his office, on a romantic high after running into Elise, he hardly notices his co-workers are frozen statues as he heads to tell a friend, Charlie (Michael Kelly) the news. But Charlie is also frozen stiff - turns out his brain is being worked on by the bureau, a group whose work one normally never sees. But David does, which means he receives a threat that should he ever reveal what he's seen, his memory and life will be wiped away. He's told he and Elise are to stay apart, but not why that must be. He of course refuses to let anything stand in the way of love, and disobeys the order.

The best part about the movie The Adjustment Bureau is seeing how every little action has ripple effects across society, as they pertain to possible lovers who appear mean to fall in love. You want them to end up together - until you find out why Fate wants them to remain apart.

At nearly two hours, the film can drag at times, but it's a good sci-fi flick, more than you would typically expect from this type of film, topped off with good effects.

"HALL PASS"

GRADE: **

The first half hour or so of 'Hall Pass', a new comedy by the Farrelly brothers, is filled with promise and funny scenes. They should have quit while they were ahead.

The Farrellys, who have been searching for a real hit since 'There's Something About Mary', take a surprising stance with the film - what looks to be a fun 'guy film' is actually a movie in defense of marriage.

Rick (Owen Wilson) and Fred (Jason Sudeikis) are best friends who have a lot in common, including the fact that they have each been married for many years. But when the two men begin to show signs of restlessness at home, their wives (Jenna Fischer, Christina Applegate) take a bold approach to revitalizing their marriages: granting them a "hall pass," one week of freedom to do whatever they want...no questions asked.

At first, it sounds like a dream come true for Rick and Fred. But it isn't long before they discover that their expectations of the single life-and themselves-are completely, and hilariously, out of sync with reality.

As previously stated, the first half hour of "Hall Pass" delivers some great laughs and insight into these clowns, whose idea of a big night out is trolling for ladies at Applebys. It would have been great as a sitcom, but there's just not enough material here to sustain a full a full-length feature film.

The movie has its moments, don't get me wrong. There are times when you can't help but laugh at the rude, crude nature of the jokes. But overall, by the end of it you'll be looking for a hall pass to leave the theater.

"I AM NUMBER FOUR"

GRADE: **

Anyone familiar with the Twilight series of books or movies will love this film. Switch out vampires and insert hot, hunky aliens, and you get then picture.

The plotline is this: Three are dead. He is Number Four. Director D.J. Caruso ("Eagle Eye," "Disturbia") helms this sci-fi thriller about an extraordinary young man, John Smith (Alex Pettyfer), who is a fugitive on the run from ruthless enemies sent to destroy him.

Changing his identity, moving from town to town with his guardian Henri (Timothy Olyphant), John is always the new kid with no ties to his past. In the small Ohio town he now calls home, John encounters unexpected, life-changing events - his first love (Dianna Agron), powerful new abilities and a connection to the others who share his incredible destiny.

Senator Scott Brown at book signing this Sunday

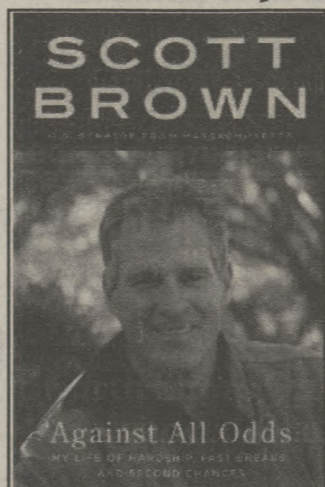

Sentaor Scott Brown is expected to be at BookEnds in Winchester on Sunday March 13th at 1:00 pm to sign copies of this new book

The extraordinary personal journey of a man who, against all odds, rose to become one of America's most surprising and promising new political figures

Scott Brown's greatest win did not occur on a cold January election night in 2010 when he came from behind to capture the U.S. Senate seat held by Ted Kennedy for nearly fifty years. It began when he survived a savage beating at the drunken, dirty-finger-nail hands of a stepfather when he was barely six years old, while trying to protect his mother.

In this gripping memoir of resilience and redemption, Brown tells the story of his difficult, often nomadic childhood, shunted from house to apartment, and town to town, seventeen times over his first eighteen years.

Saved by basketball, he was the boy who shoveled snow from the public courts to shoot hoops alone in the frozen cold. He won a starting slot on the Tufts varsity basketball team as a freshman player and becoming the tenth-highest scorer to graduate in the school's history.

His rise from there was even more improbable: a first-year law student and member of the Massachusetts National Guard, he was picked as "Cosmopolitan" magazine's "America's Sexiest Man"

The man who was once ushered into the backrooms of Studio 54 returned to Massachusetts to continue with his military and legal training, settle down, raise a family, and soon found an unlikely path that would lead him to national political stardom.

Poignant, heartfelt, humorous, and profound, this is the story of one man's dream and his determination to fight for a better future.

LIBRARY BEYOND SCIENCE WAKEFIELD

'Mashup' madness? Or just another atypical adventure at Wakefield's Beebe Library? Deadline for entries? March 25, 2011.

For example: the Wakefield Then & Now Photo Contest, in conjunction with the fourth annual "Blossoms at the Beebe" celebration on April 9-10.

The contest theme is "Then and Now Mashups," in which entrants will be asked to show how important sites in Wakefield have changed over the years by creating one photo incorporating elements of a past and present photo of the location. You can overlay the old over the new, or the other way around.

Photo mashups, according to library gurus, can be created using any of a number of free sites on the Internet, or by simply holding an old photo in front of the camera while photographing a present-day location. Photographers may also just supply their "then & now" photos, and the library will create the mashups.

To see examples of past/present photo mashups go to flickr.com/groups/lookinginto thepast/. To enter:

~Create a photo mashup of a past and present photo of the same Wakefield scene. Use your own past photo or choose one from the library's collection of online historic photos at wakefieldlibrary.org/wakefieldmass/historical-images/. Feel free to be as creative as you wish.

~Write a few words (100 or less) about why you chose the picture and what it means to you.

~Send your photo and essay to email@wakefieldlibrary.org with your name, phone number, email address and age category (kid 0-12; teen 13-18; adult 19 and older). You may also bring your photo and essay to the Reference Desk at the Library. Write your name, address and age category on the back of the photo.

Every entry will be added to the library's digital collection. Entries will also be added to the library's "Wakefield Then & Now" Collection and will be displayed at the "Blossoms at the Beebe" celebration on April 9-10 at Beebe Library. Winning entries will also receive a copy of the new book, "Images of America: Wakefield Revisited," by local author Nancy Bertrand. More information: www.wakefieldlibrary.org/library-news/photo-contest-2011

WILL GO WHEREVER, BUT TEWKSBURY IS HOME

"As the old saying goes, sometimes when one door closes another one opens, and as local band The Siracusa Project completed its run on New England's 'Community Auditions 2010,' new projects greeted them at the door," notes the Tewksbury "Town Crier."

"The Siracusa Project won its way through the Community Auditions process, winning the four stars that represent wins in four televised competitions, and earning a place ... in the semi-final round that could lead to the Grand Championship competition. In the semi-final round, in what announcers called 'the closest competition they'd ever had,' the judges' scoring led to a split decision (2-2) between The Siracusa Project and Ashley Tucker. A fifth judge was brought in, and contestant Ashley Tucker advanced to the final round.

"...Lead Singer Daniel Siracusa, of Wilmington, noted, 'It didn't go exactly as we'd hoped, but we got way more out of it than we'd anticipated.'"

"Rhythm guitarist John Hogle, of Wilmington added, 'We're thankful for the opportunity!'"

"Siracusa continued, 'In situations like this, sometimes when you lose you win more than if you'd actually won.'"

"Indeed they are feeling like winners because since filming the Community Auditions episodes, a variety of opportunities has been presented to the band. The Siracusa Project has been invited to participate in the 'Community Auditions' summer tour...

"Following its television appearances, the Siracusa Project has also become the official house band for radio station Mix 104.1,... playing at all of the Mix events and occasional on-air radio appearances, such as an upcoming St. Patrick's Day appearance during which the band will perform live on air during 6:00 to 9:00 a.m.

"This is huge for us," said Siracusa... "With everything that's going on,... we'll go wherever it takes us, but we'll always come back to Tewksbury, always remember Tewksbury, and we'll always come back home."

The Siracusa Project website: www.thesiracusaproject.com.

-With little time to spare (oops: spare) in Stoneham-Just a day before the deadline expired, the town's Board of Selectmen... placed a $1.9 million override on the April 5 election ballot.

"In a 3-to-2 vote, with Selectmen Robert Sweeney and John DePinto in opposition, the board sanctioned the ballot initiative, which will increase the average homeowner's tax bill by about $232 in FY'12..."

It is about how I feel knowing that I am taking care of the only body I have. I am 24 years old and I joined Get In Shape For Women about 2-1/2 months ago, not because I had a lot of eight to lose or for health reasons, but because I knew I could do better for myself. Thanks to my trainers Mike, Dave and Jess for helping me realize what I'm capable of and for never allowing me to give up. I have lost 16 pounds and went from a size 10 to a size 4! I have also lost 11% body fat. But it is not only about the way I look, it is about how I feel knowing that I am taking care of the only body I have.

*MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

Who was the first professional football player to run for more than 2,000 yards in a season?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

earned the top seed in the 200 meter dash and will lead four individuals and three relay teams who qualified for the NCAA Division II Indoor Track and Field Championship this coming Friday, Mar. 11 and Saturday, Mar. 12 in Albuquerque, N.M.

The NCAA Championship will take place at the Albuquerque Convention Center and is jointly hosted by Adams State College and the Albuquerque Convention and Visitors Bureau.

White joins senior Donte Brown (Raynham, Mass.) and freshman David Brown (Chelmsford, Mass.) as UMass Lowell's men's individual qualifiers while freshman Candace Greene (Annapolis, Md.) was the sole individual qualifier for the women.

Donte Brown and White will also run legs on UMass Lowell's 4X400 meter relay team, which is seeded third, while David Brown will run the 800 meters on the River Hawk distance medley relay team, seeded seventh.

The two men's relays will join the women's 4X400 meter relay team, which secured the third seed.

White earned the top seed in the 200 meter dash by posting the fastest time in the country this season - a speedy 21.09 seconds. He makes a return trip to the NCAA indoors after placing fourth a year ago in 21.65 seconds.

White, who bested his own school record four times this season, achieved his result last Friday when he won the 200 meter preliminary of the New England Championship. He placed second in the final in 21.24, the second-fastest result in UMass Lowell history.

White also qualified in the 400 meter dash with a time of 47.79 - the ninth-fastest time in the country - but will focus on the 200 meters.

"There are three or four guys in the field who can win this, and Evan is one of them," said UMass Lowell Head Coach Gary Gardner. "The 200 is a race in which you need to be good and lucky on the same day. He definitely has a chance to win this."

White and Donte Brown, alongside sophomore Craig Bennett (Milton, Mass.) and freshman Keith Lewis (Nashua, N.H.), will also run legs on UMass Lowell's 4X400 meter relay team, seeded third with a time of 3:11.78. Junior Jeff Wundt (Southwick, Mass.) was replaced by Lewis after sustaining an injury last week at the New England Championship.

SHANNON O'NEIL (TEWKSBURY) sophomore varsity goalie on the Austin

Prep girls varsity hockey team was named the team's Most Valuable Player at the school's winter sports awards ceremony. Shannon played all 21 of the team's games this season facing 744 shots on net and ending the season with a .936 save percentage and a 2.2 goals against average.

•Need some help with the trivia question? The prior record was 1,863, set by Jim Brown.

•The Wheaton College men's basketball team saw its season come to a close recently, as visiting United States Coast Guard Academy landed the fifth and final New England Women's and Men's Athletic Conference (NEWMAC) Tournament berth following its 68-65 victory over the Lyons in Emerson Gymnasium.

Wheaton finishes its year with an 8-16 overall mark and a 3-9 conference record, while the Bears will travel to fourth seed Babson College for Wednesday's opening round at a time to be determined. Coast Guard, which got needed help with first-place Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI) defeating Clark University, improved to 10-13 and 5-7.

Lyon freshman Will Bayliss (Manchester, NH/Tilton School) chipped in with 10 points and four assists, while sophomore MIKE HALL (LYNNFIELD, MA/SAINT JOHN'S PREP) finished with nine markers and seven boards.

•Wheelock College men's basketball senior Daniel Main (Hopedale, MA/Hopedale) and JUNIOR ERIC RICE (WOBURN, MA/WOBURN) each earned New England Collegiate Conference (NECC) all-league honorable mentions on Monday, as the two were among 15 players across eight NECC squads to draw laurels. As a team, the Wildcats were honored with the NECC Sportsmanship Award.

Main earned an honorable mention for the second straight season, while Rice snagged his first accolade, joining Main and Sherard Robbins '10 as the lone players in the program's four-year history to draw all-conference nods.

A versatile 6-foot-9 center, Rice is one of only two NECC players to be among the top 10 in both scoring and rebounds and among the top five in blocks. Despite missing two games, Rice set career highs in scoring (14.3), rebounding (6.7), field-goal shooting (42.9%) and free-throw shooting (77.8%). His 29 blocks were three short of his personal best, and he also dished off 39 assists. Rice notched five double-doubles and netted at least 20 points six times, and had at least seven rebounds 11 times and blocked multiple shots nine times. Heading into his senior season, Rice is second all time at Wheelock with 77 career blocks, as well as third with 791 points.

Under fourth-year head coach John Preziosa, Wheelock posted a 10-16 record, including 6-8 in the NECC. Since winning one contest during the team's first season, the Wildcats have notched a double-digit victory total each of the past three winters. Wheelock, which suffered 10 of its losses by nine points or fewer, drew the fifth seed in the NECC Tournament before dropping a 68-61 decision to No. 4 Newbury College during the quarterfinals.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: O. J. Simpson, who racked up 2,003 yards for Buffalo in 1973, breaking the previous record of 1,863 yards set 10 years earlier by Jim Brown.

From a tragic death comes a celebration of life

Applications now being accepted for the Penney Richards Memorial Scholarship

By PAUL FEELY

READING - A new scholarship has been established in memory of a young woman who was killed in a local motorcycle accident.

Organizers have announced that applications are now being accepted for the Penney Richards Memorial Scholarship.

The memorial fund was established by David and Penny Richards of North Reading, in memory of their daughter, Penney. Penney was killed in a motorcycle crash on November 19, 2009, that occurred along Lowell Street near the intersection with High Street.

Just 25 years old, at the time of her death she was a medical assistant at Massachusetts General Hospital's North Shore Cancer Center in Danvers, and preparing to enter a radiation/oncology program to further her education.

Also killed in the crash was the driver of the motorcycle, Michael A. D'Amore, 32, of Reading.

Richards was the granddaughter of longtime Reading Daily Times Chronicle Editor Bruce Morang.

"We want to help someone achieve the dreams she couldn't," said Penny Richards. "We've had tremendous support from people since we started this effort."

After setting up the scholarship, Richards said she and organizers are ready to receive applications.

"We're looking for people like our daughter, who was passionate about her career and helping people," Richards said. "We seek people currently employed in the medical field and continuing their education to develop greater knowledge and skill sets to treat the range of patient needs in the health care arena."

Applications will be reviewed by a committee that includes business and health care industry professionals. The final determination of awards will be the decision of Mr. and Mrs. Richards, in conjunction with input from the application review committee.

Deadline for applications is April 15, 2011. Successful applicants will be notified of their award by July 15, 2011.

For more information about the scholarship fund and to download a PDF of the application and instructions, please visit www.pennyrichards.com. The Penney Richards Memorial Fund is a registered corporation in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Those who wish to donate to the Scholarship can do so by sending a check made out to the Penney Richards Memorial Fund to P.O. Box 262, North Reading, Ma. 01864.

Engine

pletely ruined, it needed work done. The seat had been rusted through and all the wood, except for the wheels, had been rotted. The one thing he didn't have restored was the boiler, as Ohio law prohibits external boilers.

The steamer runs on coal, so while it could be operable, it would make quite a mess and, therefore, isn't worth it.

Hiltebrant said the restoration process took from 1997 to 2002, which included taking the steamer apart, sandblasting the parts, and reassembling it.

Since it's been finished, Hiltebrant has been able to show it off at national shows and even at the 100th anniversary of fire chiefs meeting.

It weighs 7,000lbs and stands nine feet tall and 24 feet long. It is also six feet wide. Not exactly the easiest machine to move.

Once Hiltebrant got the steamer back home to Cleveland, he used the builder plate number, 671, to figure out it had originally come from Stoneham. At that point he called then Fire Chief William Abbott who sent Hiltebrant a book he had written on the history of the Stoneham Fire Department called "History of the Stoneham Fire Department 1725-1975."

In the book Abbott noted the name of the steamer was Colonel Gould, named after the town's Civil War hero Colonel J. Parker Gould. From Abbott's book: "In 1891 the old Col. Gould, now twenty-one years old, was replaced by a new steam fire engine. This was an impressive piece of apparatus designed as a second size Engine. It was fully nickel plated and was built by Manchester Locomotive Works of New Hampshire for $3,500 and the old Co. Gould."

Abbott detailed in the book how giving the newer Col. Gould Steamer to the Bostonian was "as cruel a fate as sending a faithful old horse to the glue factory." Thankfully, this old horse wasn't put down.

The fire engine is currently being housed in a warehouse out in Cleveland. Hiltebrant said he would take it out to a couple shows this year. It is a very valuable piece of equipment, worth hundreds of thousands of dollars (due mainly to its restoration).

The machine works this way: steam in the boiler goes through tubes. A piston pump then creates suction, as a large hose at the bottom is dropped into a well or other water supply. Pressure then pushes the water out of the hose.

The Amoskeag could produce 700 gallons/minute. Nowadays, fire engines can produce 1,000-1,500 gallons/minute.

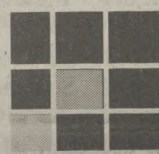

For those interested, the steamer may come back to Stoneham. About a month ago, Hiltebrant contacted Stoneham and spoke with firefighter Paul McIntyre. The two talked history and the Amoskeag Steamer. McIntyre put Hiltebrant in touch with current Fire Chief Joe Rolli. He e-mailed Chief Rolli images of the steamer, which can be found online at http://www.ci.stoneham.ma.us/Pages/StonehamMA_Fire/steamer.

Hiltebrant received a call back from Fire Captain Matt Grafton about the possibility of bringing it to Stoneham for the 100th anniversary of the fire department in 2016. He told Captain Grafton the steamer needs to be in an enclosed trailer, but he doesn't have one that's big enough.

Hiltebrant also mentioned the possibility of Chief Rolli, Captain Grafton and McIntyre coming out to see the steamer. The three men are scheduled to travel to Clintonville, Wisc. to inspect a new Seagrave Fire Truck the town ordered. On the way back, they may take the truck through Cleveland to visit the steamer and take photos.

Speaking to Chief Rolli, he stated that idea is only doable if Seagrave, who is footing the bill to get them out there, allows it.

Whatever happens, it's been a strange journey for a steam engine built in Manchester, NH. The Town of Stoneham, a Boston contractor, an amusement park tycoon, and a divorcing friend all lead to it ending up on the west side of Cleveland in a warehouse owned by Steve Hiltebrant.

handy place for shucking off muddy footwear and stowing items out of sight. The mud hall also provides a direct link to the three-car garage.

Past the mud hall, the hallway comes to the kitchen, then continues on to a utility room and the owners' suite. In the kitchen, cabinets and counters wrap around three sides of a central work island with a flush eating counter fronting the dining area. Windows fill most of the rear walls there.

More windows run along the back wall of the great room, next to a gas fireplace nestled in the corner. Access to a wide covered patio sits at the juncture of the Gladstone's great room and dining area.

Amenities in the roomy owners' suite include a deep walk-in closet and a luxurious bathroom with twin vanities, a deep soaking tub, and a separately enclosed toilet and shower.

Gladstone is naturally bright throughout

Plenty of natural light washes into the vaulted parlor of the Gladstone, through uniquely stacked windows that face the street. Openly linked gathering spaces form the core of this contemporary, cottage home, which is equally well-suited for empty nesters or families with children. Being all on one level (excepting the bonus room over the garage), this plan easily adapts to wheelchair accessibility.

After passing under the gentle arch that highlights the porch, you step into a foyer. Arched openings there continue forward and to the right. A parlor and two bedrooms, each with a direct entry bathroom, fill the right wing. The great room is ahead, and a hallway heads off to the left.

First along the hallway is convenient coat closet, and access to a mud hall with a long bench is next. This is a
